Troops Enforce Calm In Riot-Plagued Cities

126 Aboard Jet in London

Many Feared Dead in Crash

LONDON (AP) — A BOAC jetliner with 126 persons on board crashed in flames on a runway at London's airport today just after taking off.

The British Overseas Airways Corp. said it knew of 103 survivors. The airport fire brigade reported three bodies recovered from the wreckage of the four-engine Boeing 707 bound for Australia. Police said they knew of five killed—three women, a man and a child. Eighteen persons are missing.

Scotland Yard reported it knew of 22 persons injured in hospitals, some of them badly hurt. Thirty others were in the airport medical center.

Australia House in London said 24 of the jet's passengers were migrants flying out to build a new life downunder.

Airport officials said the plane's pilot, Capt. Charles Taylor, radioed two minutes after takeoff that an engine had fallen off.

The plane made a left turn, attempting to reach a cross runway. On impact the port wing fell off.

Black smoke poured from the plane as it lurched in. Airport emergency services rushed out alongside it.

A witness said: "There was a terrific pall of black smoke and flames coming from the aircraft. Two thirds of the plane appears to be intact with the tail end still sticking up.

"It lies almost in the center of the airport, 500 or 600 yards from the main buildings in the central area."

The plane's first stop was to be Zurich, Switzerland. Other stops were listed as Tel Aviv, Israel; Tehran, Iran; New Delhi, India; Singapore, and Perth and Sydney, Australia.

A BOAC spokesman said the plane carried 115 passengers and 11 crew.

BOAC said five of the aircraft's technical crew—the men in the cockpit—were safe. But they had no knowledge of the six stewards and hostesses aboard.

Death Count Rises to 25 In Violence

BY LOUISE COOK

Violence, looting and arson scourged sections of Baltimore and Pittsburgh Sunday, but Army troops and National Guardsmen, rushed in to quell the disorders, enforced an uneasy calm today.

Washington and Chicago, hardest hit by the violence which broke out in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Thursday night, were quiet. Authorities turned to the task of trying to provide homes and food for the victims of the riots.

Twenty-five have died in the trouble which struck more than a dozen U.S. cities. In addition, more than 1,200 have been injured and almost 6,000 arrested.

Building Burns

While the violence in most of the major cities ebbed, trouble struck again in Nashville, Tenn. Only hours after segments of the 4,000 National Guardsmen were on duty, the ROTC building on the campus of Tennessee A&I State University, site of recent racial violence, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Police said it appeared to be the work of arsonists.

Violence in Baltimore broke out Saturday and threatened to spread Sunday into Baltimore County, causing Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew to call for federal troops.

Almost 2,000 soldiers rushed

President Orders Addition To North 'Off-Limits' Zone

SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson has put almost 5,500 more square miles of North Vietnam off limits to American bombers, U.S. sources said today. Below the demilitarized zone, allied ground forces reported killing more than 700 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in weekend fighting.

Informed sources in Saigon said the American air forces have been told to keep their raids below the 19th Parallel, which is about 170 miles above the demilitarized zone. In the last four days U.S. bombers have struck no farther north than 160 miles above the DMZ.

Publicly, Johnson's order of March 31 setting the 20th Parallel as the northern boundary for air attacks still stands, and the sources said the President did not publicize the new curtailment because he wanted to leave open the option of bombing up to the 20th Parallel, or some 225 miles above the DMZ.

The U.S. Command in Saigon declined comment on the reported new bombing limits. In Washington, assistant White House press secretary Tom Johnson said there is no change from the March 31 order.

Although the area open to attack has been reduced, U.S. warplanes have more than doubled the pre-curtailment number of strike missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, mostly against enemy supply lines and convoys.

U.S. pilots flew a total of 134 missions over the North Vietnamese panhandle Sunday, the highest number in three months, since 144 were flown on Jan. 6. Military spokesmen said clearer weather, as the northeast monsoons move away, made the increase possible.

The fliers attacked North Vietnamese supply lines and gun positions, with the northernmost target an antiaircraft position 160 miles north of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command said.

In the ground war, the U.S. troops that lifted the siege of Khe Sanh reported killing 118 North Vietnamese soldiers in a series of clashes over the weekend as they combed the jungled hills around the base on the northwest frontier.

The troops also reported finding the bodies of 198 enemy soldiers who apparently were killed by U.S. artillery and air strikes.

Attack Near Laos

Five hours before the guard was changed at Khe Sanh, North Vietnamese troops under cover of darkness attacked a bivouac of South Vietnamese paratroopers southwest of Khe Sanh and a mile and a half from the Laotian border.

The South Vietnamese opened fire and directed their artillery onto the enemy troops on the perimeter of their own defensive positions. Within 20 minutes, the North Vietnamese broke contact, leaving 71 of their dead behind along with 11 South Vietnamese killed and 28 wounded.

Hanoi Sends Message to White House

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson announced today he has received a message from Hanoi on peace efforts and said, "We shall be trying to work out promptly a time and place for talks."

Johnson summoned newsmen to the White House Cabinet room to make the announcement.

He also disclosed he would fly later in the day to his mountain retreat at Camp David, Md., for meetings there Tuesday with Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam.

The Chief Executive gave no hint as to the content of the message from Hanoi. He left the impression, however, that he does expect some kind of talks to be arranged.

Silent Parade of Thousands

King's Widow Leads Memphis Marchers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. came to Memphis today and joined the silent march of thousands of Negroes and civil rights leaders in honor of her slain husband.

Mrs. King and three of her four children joined the march, which had halted a few minutes after it started to wait for her, at the corner of Main and Beale Streets.

As the march continued, Mrs. King's three children joined hands and walked to their mother's left. Mrs. King's eyes appeared half-closed at times. Other top officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, including Andrew Young and James Bevel, were in the front ranks.

Many Whites

About 30 per cent of the marchers were white, many of them union officials. Police Director Frank Holloman, estimated the number of marchers at "more than 6,000," but by 12:25 p.m. a total of 4,000 had passed the starting point and the end of the line was still several blocks to the rear.

The three King children glanced from side to side at the large and increasingly noisy crowd in the downtown business section and Mrs. King's lips appeared fixed in a slightly nervous half-smile.

She had arrived at 11:17 a.m. (CST) from Atlanta aboard the private jet plane of singer Harry Belafonte. The plane touched down just one minute after the march had started from a grey stone church and headed toward City Hall.

The march began at Clayborn Temple, the spot from which her husband had led a march on March 28. That demonstration broke apart into a flurry of window breaking and lootings.

'End Racism'

The marchers stepped off slowly and silently. Organizers had called for a silent march in honor of King, who was slain here last Thursday night, and said there would not be any smoking in the ranks.

Marchers wore signs saying "Union Justice Now," "Honor King—End Racism," and "I Am A Man."

There were few spectators. From above, the white signs worn by the marchers made the column appear almost like a line of cards stretched for blocks through this Mississippi River city of more than 600,000, 40 per cent of whom are Negro. Dr. King had come to Memphis to join the fight against the city for union recognition for 1,300 striking garbage workers.

One large sign, which required two people to carry, read: "Rev. King, we will carry on your great struggle."

Many of the marchers wore

Lindbergh Law's Death Provision Ruled Invalid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death penalty provision of the Lindbergh kidnaping law was ruled unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court.

In a 6-2 decision, the court said the provision, enacted by Congress in 1934, needlessly chills the exercise of basic constitutional rights.

The provision says the death penalty may be imposed only on the recommendation of a jury. The high court reasoned that this discourages trial by jury and encourages guilty pleas since the case is thereby taken out of a jury's hands.

"The defendant ingenuous enough to seek a jury acquittal stands forwarned that, if the jury finds him guilty and does not wish to spare his life, he will die," said Justice Potter Stewart.

Stewart, for the majority, recognized that the provision avoids "the more drastic alternative" of mandatory capital punishment in every interstate kidnaping case where the victim is harmed.

However, he added: "Whatever might be said of Congress' objectives, they cannot be pursued by means that needlessly chill the exercise of basic constitutional rights."

'Can be Achieved'

Stewart went on to say the goal, of limiting the death penalty to cases in which the jury recommends it, is an entirely legitimate one.

"But that goal can be achieved without penalizing those defendants who plead not guilty and demand jury trial," he said.

43 Bodies Taken From Blast Scene

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Weary searchers continue today tugging at the wreckage of buildings shattered by an explosion which struck the business area as shoppers crowded streets and shops.

Forty-three bodies had been recovered and 19 other persons were reported missing.

Fire followed the Saturday explosion in this eastern Indiana city and spread to adjacent buildings. Three buildings were destroyed and five damaged severely in a two-block area. Windows were shattered for blocks around.

More than 100 persons were injured. Eighteen remained in hospitals today, three in critical condition.

State police said the blast erupted in the basement of Marting Arms Co., a sporting goods store where gunpowder was stored for hunters and skeet shooters. Richmond Fire Marshal Fred Klotz said a large shipment of gunpowder reportedly was delivered to the store recently.

FBI agents said they were investigating the possibility of a gas leak as a factor in the explosion.

Only a crater remained where the sporting goods store stood at Sixth and Main Streets. Neighboring buildings were torn apart. Flames damaged other buildings.

Some of the dead and injured were trapped in cars demolished by the blast and falling debris. One car was hurled 50 feet. Officials said more than 150 vehicles were demolished.

Incidents Mar Goal of Non-Violence

15,000 Parade in Milwaukee's King Memorial

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An estimated 15,000 persons, many of them white, marched through Milwaukee's downtown district in the largest civil rights demonstration in the city's history today in a memorial procession marred by two outbreaks of rock throwing.

The demonstration to honor the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was orderly except for the series of window-breaking episodes that broke out in the heart of the business district and again at a big department store on the edge of the Inner Core.

Off-duty policemen were called up when glass began to break in the stretch of Wisconsin Avenue between 5th Street and Plankinton. One man was taken into custody for alleging attempting to flee with some clothing.

Fills Street

Commandos of the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People led the marchers and after shop windows began to fall, formed lines forcing the crowd away from the buildings. The throng frequently filled the broad street from wall to wall.

A 68-year-old white woman pedestrian was struck on the head by a rock near 2nd and Wisconsin.

The big W.T. Grant store on 5th and Wisconsin suffered the initial damage when its plate glass windows were broken after the vanguard of the march had passed.

A newsman on the scene said rocks were thrown at the windows from the ranks of demonstrators about two blocks deep among the massed thousands.

Commandoes attempted to restore order.

As the procession moved onto Wisconsin Avenue from its starting point at St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church in the core, its numbers were estimated at 15,000 and growing.

The marchers filled the street from building to building on 12th Street, and extended eight to ten blocks.

About one-third were white at that point.

The demonstration was led by a group of men on motorcycles and a solid phalanx of Milwaukee Youth Council Commandos. With them was the Rev. James E. Groppi, their white adviser.

Church Services

Some 6,000 persons had gathered at St. Boniface earlier for services at which Father Groppi said that Dr. King would have wanted any memorial in his name to be nonviolent.

But, Father Groppi warned, the Youth Council's activities would be stepped up again in the coming months.

The priest and the Youth Council led 200 consecutive nights of demonstrations in the past year to support demands for a strong city open housing law. However, they ended the marches officially March 14.

"We are going to tie up this city this summer until we get our rights," Father Groppi said, "even if we have to picket every night and if we have to march down the expressways."

Westmoreland Describes U.S. Talks Strength

Nation Never Better Situated Militarily, Commander Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland has pictured the United States—as it faces possible peace talks with North Vietnam—as operating from a position of military advantage.

Westmoreland, ending two days of intensive talks with President Johnson and other senior officials, told White House newsmen Sunday that "militarily we have never been in better relative position in South Vietnam."

He asserted that "the spirit of the offensive is now prevalent throughout Vietnam, with advantage being taken of the enemy's weakened military condition."

The general flew off immediately afterward for California and briefed former President Dwight D Eisenhower before heading for Saigon.

Eisenhower Admirer

The general said he discussed the tactical situation in Vietnam with Eisenhower and added: "I'm a great admirer of Eisenhower. Any conversation with him is always productive."

The former President said after the meeting, "I'm a born optimist. I think we're doing all right."

Eisenhower said that with the recent overtures to Hanoi "at least we're giving them a chance. That's all we can do."

Westmoreland, who has been criticized on grounds he has been too optimistic in the past, read his statement with Johnson at his left shoulder and Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford at his right.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam, soon to return to Washington to become Army chief of staff, ruled out any questions because of what he called the sensitive nature of events.

The White House later said Westmoreland was referring to tentative moves being made by both the United States nd North Vietnam toward possible negotiations.

In a gesture which seemed designed to underscore support for Westmoreland, Johnson and Clifford saw the general off at nearby Andrews Air Force Base. Johnson is to confer in Washington with Ellsworth Bunker, ambassador to Vietnam, later this week.

Honolulu Conference

Possible negotiations with North Vietnam were a major topic of discussion in the White House meetings Saturday and Sunday—meetings that substituted for a planned Honolulu conference called off because of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King and the widespread rioting that followed.

Commenting on that report from Saigon, however, assistant press secretary Tom Johnson said there has been no change from the original order of March 31.

Top-rung officials, including Clifford, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chairman Earle G Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, sat in on those conferences. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, just back from a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting, joined in.

The ruling out of questions prevented newsmen from asking Westmoreland how he feels about the bombing restrictions imposed by Johnson a week ago in a move to nudge North Vietnam to the conference table. In the past, Westmoreland has been outspokenly opposed to any reduction, pause or halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Serious Setback

Since the Communist lunar new year offensive, there has been a growing impression that the United States and South Vietnam suffered serious and possible long-term setbacks Some high officials have conceded this result.

Westmoreland's statement stressed what he called the Communist failures in that offensive.

"Despite the initial psychological impact of the enemy's Tet offensive," Westmoreland said, "the enemy failed to achieve a public uprising by the people of South Vietnam, to bring about the defeat of the Vietnamese armed forces, or to achieve the military objectives."

The Army general, commanding more than 516,000 American troops, hailed what he said was the lifting of the siege of the Marine bastion at Khe Sanh

Whereas many critics had deplored U.S defense of Khe Sanh as wasteful of men, Westmoreland pictured the better than two-month Communist siege as pinning down more than two divisions of North Vietnamese troops "at a crucial phase of their winter-spring offensive"

Trudeau Selected Prime Minister

Canadian Election to Test 2 New Political Personalities

BY MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer

OTTAWA (AP) — The Liberal Party's choice of Pierre Elliott Trudeau as Canada's next prime minister has set the stage for a confrontation with the new Conservative leader, Robert Stanfield, in a national election later this year.

It will be a test of strength between two new personalities who are expected to give Canadian politics its biggest shot in the arm since John Diefenbaker and Lester B. Pearson began their rivalry a decade ago.

Both Trudeau and Stanfield are newcomers to the national political scene and are anxious to seek a mandate from the public which will bring an end to minority government under which Pearson has ruled for the past five years.

Young Backers

Trudeau was elected Liberal leader Saturday night on the fourth ballot after a coalition of middle-of-the-road and right-wing rivals failed to head off the youth-supported Trudeau bandwagon.

As leader of the ruling party, the 46-year-old Trudeau, from Quebec, becomes prime minister when Pearson retires two weeks from now at the age of 70.

It was generally believed that Trudeau's policies will follow those of Pearson. He told a news conference, however, that there should be a thorough reassessment of Canada's foreign policy with a boost in foreign aid expenditures.

Stanfield, former premier of Nova Scotia, was chosen conservative leader last September in a contest which saw Diefenbaker defeated along with other well-known conservatives.

Who Can Win?

Stanfield's election had a lot to do with the selection of Trudeau by the Liberals The question asked most often by delegates to the three-day convention was not who will make the best prime minister, but who can beat Stanfield

Although Trudeau is known as something of a swinger, there is some similarity between him and the Conservative leader Both are scholarly and both are more likely to appeal to the intellect than to the emotions of the voters. Neither is a practitioner of the fiery type of oratory which characterized Diefenbaker's campaigning.

It appears that the next election will be more a contest of personalities than of issues. Trudeau has been a Liberal only since 1965, after a flirtation with the left-wing New Democratic party and has been in the Cabinet as justice minister less than a year

As a result, he has not had time to develop a firm program. Neither has Stanfield, who proved an able administrator as head of the Nova Scotia government but has served in Ottawa only as opposition leader

Assassination Could Hurry Pope's Anti-Racism Document

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King may hasten publication of a papal document against racism.

After King had an audience with Pope Paul VI on Sept. 18 1964, the Negro civil rights leader said the pontiff had assured him he would issue a document deploring discrimination in all its forms.

The Pope has frequently spoken out against discrimination, but a specific document devoted exclusively to the problem has not appeared.

On Palm Sunday, the Pope called King's murder "a cowardly and atrocious killing."

"Our sorrow is made all the greater and more fearful because of the violent and disorderly reactions which this sad fact has caused." he said.

Racial Disorders

In the wake of the assassination and of U.S racial disorders, Vatican circles indicated that the Pope may have decided to speed up work on a document condemning racial discrimination and violence.

Three and a half years ago, King came out in buoyant spirits from the 30-minute audience with the Pope

"The Pope told me that he would make a personal and public declaration against racial segregation," King said. "He did not say when it would be.

"Pope Paul was very open and forthright . . . He said he was a friend of the Negro people and that he was following our struggle in the United States. However, he said he could not accept violence and I made it clear I did not support violence either," King said at the time.

Papal References

Pope Paul showed his concern for the problem by referring lengthily to King's assassination both during the mass in St. Peter's Basilica and later as he addressed the crowds in the square from his studio window.

A strong condemnation of racism had also been the concern of the Ecumenical Council, meeting three years, ago and of the synod of bishops and the Roman Catholic laymen's assembly in Rome last October

The lay group had requested in a resolution that the Pope speak out in a definitive way on the subject

Worldwide Eulogies Mark Day of Mourning for King

By RAY KOHN
Associated Press Writer

Many thousands of Negroes and whites eulogized Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. at church services. outdoor observances and quiet marches in cities and towns across the nation Sunday.

The national day of mourning, as proclaimed by President Johnson, was noted around the world, including words by Pope Paul VI in Rome and soldiers gathered for a solemn service in a steel hut at Da Nang, Vietnam.

At Memphis, Tenn, where King was felled last Thursday by a sniper's bullet. the peaceful march he had planned for today was to be headed by aides and possibly his widow.

Pope Paul, while celebrating Palm Sunday mass in St. Peter's Basilica, said of King, an exponent of nonviolence, "We shall associate his memory with that of the tragic story of the Passion of Christ."

Service in The Hague

U.N. Secretary - General U Thant told some 2,500 persons at a memorial service in The Hague, the Netherlands: "I share the deep sense of shock with you."

Thousands of New Englanders took part in marches and services.

Boston University, where King earned his doctorate in theology, planned further memorial services for today and no classes Tuesday, when King will be buried in Atlanta.

Connecticut Gov John Dempsey has proclaimed Tuesday a holiday in the state.

Some 20,000 persons gathered in the Los Angeles Coliseum Sunday to do honor to the head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

In Sitka, Alaska, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said in mourning the slain civil rights leader:

In Ourselves

"How many good men must we give—the common man in the street, a holder of the Nobel Peace Prize, even a president of the United States—before we finally face the fact that the weakness in our society is the weakness in ourselves."

New York City's Central Park was the scene of an interfaith memorial service, with some 12,000 Negroes and whites listening to eulogies by Gov. Nelson A Rockefeller, Mayor John V. Lindsay, and civil rights leaders.

The Rev. Wyatt Walker, one of King's former aides, said, "In his memory today, take up the palm branch. We will open eyes blinded with hate and prejudice"

In strife-torn Washington, where looting and burning followed King's assassination, a special service was held at the Roman Catholic National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. Bishop John Spence of the archdiocese of Washington, told about 3,000 persons that King was "a martyr, a man who died for the Christian precept of nonviolence."

'Cease Violence'

Bishop Spence urged Negroes to "cease your violence" and advised whites to work toward ending prejudice.

A spokesman for Coletta King, King's widow, said former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, visited her for about a half hour Sunday in Atlanta.

The spokesman said Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., also visited briefly with Mrs. King.

In Atlanta, King's brother, the Rev. A. D. King, conducted the Sabbath service at Ebenezer Baptist Church where King and his father were the pastors.

At Newark, N.J., an estimated 25,000 persons, about one-third of them white, marched through a predominantly Negro neighborhood wracked last summer by rioting. Leaders of the march included Mayor Hugh Addonizio and Willie Wright, a militant who heads the United Afro-Americans Association.

Houston Observance

Several thousand persons marched to the Houston, Tex., city hall for a 95-minute memorial service

A memorial service was held on the Texas Christian University campus at Fort Worth, and a memorial concert in Lee Park, Dallas.

In Louisville, some 3,000 persons marched, led by city religious leaders and Mayor Kenneth Schmied.

Park to Ask South Korean Role in Vietnam Conference

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park will write to President Johnson soon, asking for South Korean participation in any Vietnam peace talks and urging that the Viet Cong be excluded, a Seoul newspaper said today

Daihan Ilbo, quoting informed sources, said Park also is expected to express his government's opposition to any peace formula giving Communists a place in a coalition government.

No official comment on the report was immediately available.

Johnson and Park had been scheduled to meet Sunday in Honolulu, but the meeting was postponed indefinitely following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr This is why Park decided to send Johnson a letter expressing his government's position on Vietnam peace talks and Asian security, the paper said.

It said the letter would urge that bombing of North Vietnam not be halted until Hanoi shows a sincere desire for peace

South Korea supports the objective of an honorable peace in Vietnam, the report added.

Daihan Ilbo said Park also plans to tell Johnson the United States should not apologize to Communist North Korea for the Pueblo incident and should conclude its private talks with the North Koreans on the fate of the 82 crewmen of the captured intelligence ship as soon as possible

Who Calls Activities of Stokely Carmichael?

Changes in Tactics Indicate Someone Doing Planning in His Civil Rights Moves

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When the numbing news came on Thursday night of the brutal assassination of Martin Luther King, the usually decisive Stokely Carmichael was in a momentary state of confusion and inaction — until he received a mysterious telephone call from an unknown source.

After that conversation, Carmichael was his old self. He announced that he would immediately go into the Negro ghetto on Washington's Northwest Side to demand that stores close out of respect for Dr. King. Not surprisingly, Carmichael's efforts degenerated into looting by Negro youths later in the evening (though Stokely, for a time, tried to discourage it). Moreover, he was back in Washington's streets Friday morning leading a march which preceded waves of new violence.

Who Guides Him?

The mobilization of Carmichael by a single phone call reinforces suspicions of Negro leaders who believe he is guided through his otherwise inexplicable shifts of strategy by unseen — and undetermined — forces. After returning several months ago from a long sojourn in Communist countries, he dropped his advocacy of violence for a calmer popular-front line couched in Leninist vocabulary. A few weeks ago, however, Carmichael abruptly switched back to advocating violence.

What makes the source of Carmichael's tactical aberrations so frighteningly pertinent is that he may be the Negro filling the void left by Dr. King as the charismatic leader of the Negro masses.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), will maintain his martyred chief's principle of non-violence. But neither he nor any of the other SCLC lieutenants can command national attention among the militant youths of the nation.

No Replacement

Nor do any of the middle-aged, middle-class Negro leaders summoned to the White House on Friday by President Johnson. It is significant that when Negro youths took to Washington's streets Thursday night, none of the established civil rights leaders were on hand. Only two prominent Negroes were in the ghetto: Carmichael and Chuck Stone, chief aide of Adam Clayton Powell and a preacher of political — not physical — black power.

Indeed, there are only two black leaders today nationally with the charisma to replace Dr. King. One is Powell — ailing, aging, embittered, self-exiled much of the time in the Caribbean. The other is Carmichael.

Moreover, Carmichael fits perfectly with the fierce new ghetto mood. Wherever militant Negro youths have gathered in recent weeks, there has been one subject: guerrilla warfare. The militants claim that the department store fires in Chicago and New York began this war and grimly warn of more sophisticated anti-white assaults such as dynamiting power plants and poisoning water reservoirs.

Even with his unmatched prestige and spell-binding oratory, Dr. King had been losing ground of late among the militants. Carmichael obviously was waiting for King's Poor People's March on Washington later this month to fail, either by falling short of its dimly stated goals or by acquiescing in some unenforceable agreement with the government. According to this plan, Carmichael then would nudge aside Dr. King for paramount Negro leadership and perhaps take over the march itself.

Carmichael Strengthened

The tragic death of Dr. King not only moves up Carmichael's takeover timetable but enormously strengthens his hand as a foe of non-violence. Indeed, there is now an excellent chance that Carmichael and the militants will elbow the SCLC leaders out of running the march. The march might well then become something radically different from the non-violent demonstration originally planned by Dr. King.

With this backdrop, Chuck Stone on Friday wrote to his chief, Adam Clayton Powell, to come home and try to seize leadership of the angry black militants. Although Powell bitterly declared an end to non-violence in his last U.S. lecture tour, the fact remains that he never has been the cause, purposely or otherwise, of racial violence.

It would be ironic should Powell. defrocked for personal pecadilloes by his Congressional colleagues, turn black militants away from suicidal revolution. It would also be unlikely. More probably, white leaders who so often condemned Martin Luther King as an extremist now will have the pleasure of dealing with Stokely Carmichael.

Are We Suffocating in Waste?

For a long time it has been obvious that there is danger in some of the ways man experiments and how he uses his surroundings. Pollution of our air and water has been the most common and one of the hardest to solve since it is often the by-product of important and profitable industry and sometimes merely results from the presence of man. But there are some more disturbing results.

In Skull Valley, Utah, seven thousand sheep suddenly died one day last winter. Investigation indicates that the deaths were caused by unexpected diffusion of fumes from a United States Army chemical testing area not far away. Officials point out that a curious set of circumstances led to the deaths of the sheep while other living creatures in the area, including the herdsmen and dogs, were not affected. However, this is hardly reassuring. If a mistake could kill the sheep, another mistake could kill children.

But the altering of one's environment can mean other changes, not necessarily as disastrous.

A couple of years ago, an Illinois State Water Survey climatologist noticed that rainfall averages in La Porte, Indiana, were considerably higher than in any other nearby areas. La Porte averaged 50 inches per year while other towns in the same general region averaged only 36. Other scientists were called in and it was quickly ascertained that the records were absolutely accurate. It was also discovered that the rainfall in La Porte began to increase after 1933 when there was a considerable increase in steel production in the Chicago, Illinois and Gary, Indiana, complex. Further study indicated that the rainfall increase in La Porte probably came from a combination of the pollution from the steel mills and the presence of Lake Michigan. And the changes were considerable. In a ten year period La Porte had 31 per cent more precipitation, 38 per cent more thunderstorms, and 246 per cent more hail days than did surrounding stations.

The United States will pay for the sheep destroyed in Utah. But in the not too distant future we may have all sorts of claims from those whose greenhouse roofs have been shattered by hail or mink frightened to death by thunder against the mills which spume vast clouds of waste material into the skies.

However, many ecologists consider the problem far more serious than determining who is going to pay for what. They point to the millions of acres of once arable land that has been ruined by man, to the changes in biochemical cycles and the vast amounts of carbon dioxide released by our gasoline motors and our jet planes. They warn that if the rate of combustion exceeds the rate of photosynthesis we shall begin to run out of oxygen.

If man could take the genius with which he invents weapons of destruction and concentrate it upon saving the world in which we live, our children and grandchildren might have a better chance.

'Don't turn my dream into a nightmare!'

Substituting Commitment for Drugs

The House subcommittee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce has been holding hearings about the trade in illegal and dangerous drugs. It has been considering a bill submitted by the Johnson Administration which would make the manufacture, sale and distribution of such dangerous drugs as LSD a felony with tougher penalties for making such drugs available to minors. But the committee is also concerned about why people, youth in particular, turn to drugs.

A hopeful suggestion came from Dr. Donald B. Louria, president of the New York State Council on Drug Addiction. Dr. Louria is also an associate professor of medicine at Cornell University.

"If you want to cure the drug problem, the name of the game is commitment," he said. In this election year, with the sudden upsurge of interest in politics of both major parties by high school and college students, the commitment to political causes might well replace the reliance on pot and pills, he suggested.

There has been an element of frustration and near despair in the recourse to drugs by young people in the United States. It is not merely criticism of the war in Vietnam but a far deeper suspicion of The System or the Establishment as a whole Demands on campuses not merely for more liberal regulations but a firm participation by students in courses of study, building plans and the way money is raised and used are further indications that young people want to change some of the basics of educational, social and governmental systems. While some of the efforts have led to demonstrations which deny others the right of opinion and free speech, the more recent interest in the political campaigns shows that some students consider that benefits can come within the framework of our political system.

Dr. James Green, assistant professor of psychology at Antioch College, writes that "the moral vision that is emerging on the campuses insists upon human well-being as the central moral category and requires that each law or authority justify itself through the contribution it makes to this end. It rejects the subordination of emotional, aesthetic, and sensory experience to the rational faculties, and holds that human well-being requires the cultivation of intelligence and the sensibilities, a greater capacity for rich erotic experience, heightened sensory awareness, and a cultivated aesthetic sensibility." Young people reject what they consider "another morality that they see developing among middle-class Americans ... the new hedonism, a morality that embraces the eternal round of consumption and production, of cheap gratification and unrewarding labor, while retaining as an unwanted residium of the old system the burdens of anxiety at opportunity lost and guilt at pleasure gained."

Youth, thinking the gates remained closed to its new ideas, turned in rebellion and escape to the hallucinogens which gave them at least the temporary satisfactions of living the new morality.

But increasingly it appears that reliance upon such drugs is diminishing. Some students have become seriously committed to trying to overcome the vast problems of the urban ghettoes and the Indian reservations. Others have found religious commitment in Vatican II and reforms within Protestant denominations. And now the political campaigns find many young people willing and eager to take over the hard work of promoting the causes of many of the candidates for national, state or local offices.

This is the generation which must determine the paths the nation and to some extent much of the world will take in the next few decades. It is heartening to find that they are rejecting the temporary pleasures of drugs which after all is also a form of hedonism.

Self-Determination Doesn't Always Work

The American dedication to self-determinism is not always reflected among some of our allies.

Last month some sort of a minor rebellion in a Filipino special forces camp on the island of Corregidor disclosed some startling news. The camp trained Filipinos for jungle warfare but they weren't intended to add to the small non-combat force representing the Philippines in Vietnam. Instead their mission was to invade Sabah and take it away from Malaysia. Or at least this is what some members claimed.

Sabah is on the island of Borneo and was incorporated in the Malaysian Federation when it was established several years ago. Charges by President Sukarno of Indonesia that Sabah and Sarawak didn't really want to be part of Malaysia brought an investigation by the United Nations. A neutral team was sent to investigate the plebiscite and concluded that the considerable majority on both Sabah and Sarawak preferred the Malaysian Federation.

Sukarno refused to accept the findings and launched his "crush Malaysia" campaign which disappeared after his demotion and the anti-Communist coup in Indonesia. But apparently some Filipinos haven't accepted the findings either.

There are about 3,000 Filipinos on Sabah but little else to back up a Philippine claim to the territory which was under British rule until the formation of the Malaysian Federation.

President Ferdinand Marcos has officially denied that the special forces were being trained to infiltrate Sabah. Instead he said they were to be used to combat the increasing strength of the Communist affiliated Hukbalahaps who control much of the major Philippine island, Mindanao. Certainly a different approach to the Huk question seems important since skirmishes with the highly unstable Philippine Constabulary forces have done little more than kill people on both sides, many of whom may have been quite innocent.

But in our needed assistance to various nations of Asia, we must recognize the various nationalistic drives they are encouraging and the prejudices against other Asians. And we can recall the early aggressive days of our own history and understand something of the pressure upon the developing countries.

Looking Backward

Balmy Spring Weather Early

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for April 2, 1868.

What a convenient topic of conversation is the weather!

We have not met a single acquaintance or friend for the last five days without being reminded what splendid weather we are having. The old adage has been verified. March "came in like a lion" and has gone out like a lamb fully as docile as the one "Mary Had."

Old residents inform us that this is the earliest spring they have seen in this latitude for nine years; and that year, they say it froze some time during every month.

The river is somewhat higher this spring than last. The vast amount of water pouring over the dam, and wildly dashing against the high banks of the stream set us to thinking.

A moderate knowledge of arithmetic enabled us to solve a problem in mathematics by which we ascertained that if all the water now spending its time in idleness should be used to harness the machinery in manufactories, the proceeds from the same would suffice to pay off the national debt in 2 years, 7 months and 11 days!

Johnson Unseated by Emotional Revolt Against His Administration

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

The withdrawal of Mr. Johnson is among other things technically interesting. The adage that an incumbent president can effect his own renomination appears to be mortally wounded. The objection will be raised that Lyndon Johnson didn't after all fail to effect his renomination, that he simply didn't try. But it is likely that he didn't try because he was uncertain that he would succeed. Those who lived through the year 1948 thought it a pretty boisterous year, what with the Wallace movement, the civil rights walk-out, and the staggering upset by Harry Truman. But even though Harry Truman was despised by his own people, the Democratic Party was never in any serious sense refractory. When Harry Truman went to Philadelphia, he was in command of the convention and no one doubted it. Lyndon Johnson did doubt whether in the age of television, in this moment of high emotional volatility, he could command the movements of the delegates.

Buckley

That is an important datum in American history. Some will hail it as evidence that The People are in better command of their own affairs. Others, conservatives for the most part, will wonder whether it is all a cause for rejoicing. The conservative fears plebiscitary government, for the very same reasons given by Burke and Adams. Instant guidance by the people of the government means instability, and instability is subversive of freedom. If Lyndon Johnson has to step down because 45 per cent of the Democrats in New Hampshire, half of them unable to reply accurately to the question whether Senator McCarthy was for or against the Vietnam war, voted for McCarthy, and because tens of thousands of college students moo over Bobby Kennedy who has delusions of being Ringo Starr, there is something somehow unsettling about it all.

It isn't, of course, that a solid case against Johnson had not been developed. Encyclopaedias have been written detailing his shortcomings, and those of his policies, by men deeply moved in their opposition to him. But Johnson was the victim of something closer to a seizure in American public opinion, than a thoughtful and strategical judgment voted against him or his policies. And that is an unfortunate development in American politics.

Who, now, will benefit from the cultivation of the mass approach? Bobby Kennedy, inasmuch as it is his technique to egg on hysterical adulation (could you imagine him saying to one of those audiences, "Oh cut it out and stop behaving like silly children?"). Senator McCarthy is by contrast in the tradition of Adlai Stevenson and Woodrow Wilson and one fears that for precisely that reason, he is going to lose. (He should lose for other reasons.) Have you noticed how disappointed some of his followers betrayed themselves as being in Senator Eugene McCarthy? And for the most interesting reason, namely the senator's adamant sense of responsibility.

It is an ironic masterstroke that Senator McCarthy's name is the same as Bad Joe's. Whose behavior his critics wept tears of rage over. Whose behavior they now not-so-secretly wish Senator Eugene were just a little bit more capable of. . . ."He (Eugene) called us to Armageddon, and then located it in Scarsdale New York — or perhaps Pasadena California (writes Dwight Macdonald in Esquire). His campaign has been muted to the point of silence (how that other wicked McCarthy would have grabbed the headlines this virtuous one hasn't). Well-bred to the point of boredom, he may put us to sleep, but he'll never, no never be vulgar. . . Why doesn't he give the works to his President? It's been done before in American politics?" To be sure, that was written before New Hampshire, but McCarthy's style hasn't changed since before New Hampshire. But it would appear to be plain that however encouraging McCarthy's performance in New Hampshire and Wisconsin, he is bound to lose up against the demagogic juggernaut from New York.

It is interesting to meditate the role of enthusiasm in politics. Obviously there is room for it. But somewhere along the line enthusiasm subtly deteriorates into unreason, and such conscious rejection of standards and restraints as sustained Mussolini and Peron. The morale is high but it is, as Albert Jay Nock used to point out, "The morale of an army on the march." Such is the morale of the forces that have unseated Lyndon Johnson.

Young Cubans Given 'Moral Re-Education'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio reports that 163 young Cubans have completed three months work in sugar cane fields to "re-educate them morally."

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, did not say why the youths needed the re-education but the phrasing was the same as that used in reports on persons opposed to the Fidel Castro regime.

Wisconsin Report

Process of Amendi State Constitution Still Very Workabl

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Aside from the decisions in party politics in the recent Wisconsin elections, which were generally foreseen before the event, the electorate of the state has earned another respectful bow from students of public affairs for its discriminating vote on four more amendments to the State Constitution.

Wyngaard

There are those impatient persons, many of them of an academic frame of mind, who insist that the state should undertake a constitutional convention to rewrite wholly its fundamental law mostly dating from 1848 and which has been shown so frequently in so many sections to be inadequate for the needs and public desires of the day.

Yet it appears pretty plain that as long as the piecemeal amendment process can be managed as successfully as the people of Wisconsin have repeatedly shown they can manage it, there is likely to be no general support for the idea of wholesale rewriting.

DEMANDS ACCELERATING

The number and frequency of constitutional amendment demands are accelerating. In some minds, that is proof of the need for a complete revision, as an increasing number of states elsewhere in the country have concluded. Several other states, indeed, are now in the process of such convention revision or have authorized it.

As far as this reporter is concerned, there is an implication in the arguments of the convention advocates that the people are not capable of making such decisions for themselves when they see the need.

But the refutation of that idea has been eloquently recorded again and again during the last decade or more. Numerous and reasonably complex issues were submitted to referendum decision in individual questions by the legislature during that period. The people pondered the upon them, and m proved them. Often We Forget H It Was to be Young

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It's not just that we forget what it felt like to be young — it's that we forget we've forgotten.

The other day I stopped at school to pick up my younger son. It was about 5 above zero, and I sat in the car bundled up in a heavy storm coat, scarf, gloves, boots, and a Cossack hat I and still freezing by the second.

Harris

Out he popped, wearing a thin pair of pants, a shirt open at the throeat, and a pea jacket, unbuttoned. As he entered the car, I started to ask the usual parental question ("Hat? Gloves? Scarf?") and then bit my tongue.

For I suddenly remembered that I had forgotten what it felt like to be young — to be feckless and foolish and impervious to the elements. To romp in snowpiles without leggings, to kick away at ice blocks with new oxfords on, to jump into snowbanks up to your armpits.

We are fond of repeating the musty truism that youngsters must learn to "grow up." But it is equally true that parents, and adults generally, must learn to "grow down" to their early experiences, to recall the tastes and smells and feels and visions of childhood. Lacking this empathy, it is impossible to reach the child except by threat or command.

It is as though we close a steel door when we reach adulthood, shutting out the whole sensory and imaginative range of youthful reactions to the world — and the overpow ering kinetic need to t test, to explore, to taste forbidden fruit because it is forbidden

That cold winter a was more real to my it was to me. I was m protection, insulated cruel and yet bracing he was facing it in dimension, testing his resistance to it, grappl it in a spirit of fierc ment, as a healthy cu wrestle with a boulder

I thought about prudent things — wet a sore throat, possibly with the flu. But whe a boy his age, what feet mean to me? Even a sore throat wa the fun of the day. Anc to say I was wrong?

Of course, parents a to protect, to guide, the child from the da consqeuences of his fo sometimes I think we of envy more than affection— the child no right to be having good time when we have to pay the price it for his sake that we his shirt at the neck, his gloves, wrap aro scarf? Or is it beca resent what we are n able to imitate?

Capital Shows New Response To Race Riots

Reaction May be Example to Other Plagued Cities

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Down the mall from the bright bubble of the Capitol dome to the brooding figure in the Lincoln Memorial, Washington looks the same. But a deep change has taken place.

A city that had been slowly hardening into two separate cities, one white and one black, has been made searingly aware it is one. How it reacts to this awareness may hold an answer for other cities afflicted with racial troubles.

One answer seems apparent. A cool and carefully planned response to looting and burning may be able to achieve results without the bloodshed and violence that marked last summer's riots in Newark and Detroit.

Police Withdraw

In the early stages of the disorders in the capital, the outnumbered police were withdrawn from trouble areas so they would not have to resort to gunfire to protect themselves.

Later, backed by federal troops, they moved forcibly but with restraint against the looters and rounded up curfew violaters by the droves.

The result was a minimum of deaths and injuries and a massive 4,800 arrests. The performance of the District of Columbia police and the troops has drawn praise from Atty Gen Ramsey Clark and is likely to set a pattern for the police in other cities

There was encouragement also in the immediate response of the white community to the despair the black community inflicted on itself in its blind rage and frustration

Tremendous Outpouring

Appeals for food for the persons living in the riot area, where food stores were either burned, looted or locked up, brought a tremendous outpouring from the white areas

Door-to-door collections, large-scale purchases and donations by individuals and organizations produced tons of canned foods, milk and bread which were distributed in the riot area by volunteers, many of them from church groups.

"This is the real beginning of the real meaning of the life of Martin Luther King," said a white civic leader active in the food drive, who was overwhelmed by the response.

For the long haul, however, the Negroes in Washington need what they need in every urban area—more and better jobs, better schools and better housing And it takes more than a willing spirit to supply them.

Lack of Money

Congress has passed bills to meet all these needs and President Johnson has asked for more, but a lack of money has crippled many of the programs.

The day before the rioting started in Washington, the House approved an appropriation bill that eliminated $75 million for a summer program for unemployed youths and an additional $5 million for the Head Start preschool program

Johnson, who could see the smoke from the burning Negro areas from the White House, would probably like to request some emergency legislation to deal with the problem

But he has painted himself into a corner as far as seeking new legislation—or at least the funds to go with it—by agreeing to substantial budget cuts in order to get Congressional approval of a tax increase.

Untagged Houses To Get Service of Missouri Firemen

HIGH RIDGE, Mo (AP) — A resolution introduced recently at a tag-holders meeting would allow the High Ridge fire department to put out a fire in an untagged house "at least once."

A fee of from $150 to $200 would be charged at the time such service is rendered. The resolution also provides that at least 60 per cent of the homes or rental units in the district must have tags for the department to continue operations.

Volunteer firemen in the dirs trict, about 20 miles southwest of St Louis, were criticized and threatened during a 10-day period in March when they adhered to district bylaws to stand by while two untagged homes burned. Once they were forced by an angry mob to put out a fire.

The tag-holders will vote on the resolution June 3.

Appleton Resources Called Adequate

Emergency Service Can be Lifesaver

BY CHUCK DILDAY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If you should be struck by a car while crossing an Appleton street would you receive prompt, competent emergency care?

Or if you should be the victim of sudden and severe illness, would you receive adequate medical attention and would there be facilities to get you to a hospital quickly and safely?

The April issue of the Journal of American Insurance carries a story that stresses every community should ask itself these questions and take inventory of the emergency resources it has available on a day-to-day basis.

In Appleton, the answer to both questions is a reassuring "yes."

The magazine says that a spokesman for the American College of Surgeons states that it is not unreasonable to assume that 20,000 accident victims die needlessly each year because of deficiencies in emergency service.

Training Deficiencies

The Ambulance Association of America estimates that 25,000 cases of permanent injury and disability arise yearly from training deficiencies among ambulance attendants and other rescue workers.

Where these misfortunes occur with the most frequency is not disclosed, but it is reasonable to assume that they happen more often in congested metropolitan districts or isolated rural localities where professional help is remote and probably inadequate.

In proposing community inventories of emergency resources, the Insurance Journal presents a check list of 20 crucial questions about ambulance and hospital services.

The Post-Crescent checked these with authorities at Appleton Memorial Hospital and St. Elizabeth Hospital and with officials of the Appleton Police Department and the Appleton Fire Department. The answers received were positive and reassuring.

In questions relating to ambulance service the check list asked if an ambulance can be called at any hour, any day of the year. In Appleton the answer is yes.

Perpetual Call

In addition, the fire department rescue squads are on perpetual call. They are dispatched through one central alarm office. The two privately owned ambulances have their own call systems.

Fire Chief Roland H. Kuehnl is proud the fire department units are equipped and manned by trained men to handle practically any type of emergency. Victims of water accidents, heart disorders, earth cave-ins, poisoning, accidents of any type and victims of collapse are cared for by men trained in advanced first aid and removal of victims.

"As public servants our principal job is saving lives and property," the chief states. It" is only proper that the necessary equipment to do an efficient job of rescue work should be available."

All firemen are trained in standard first aid; about 60 men have advanced cards and 35 men hold instructors cards.

A similar situation exists within the police department where squad personnel is trained and experienced in emergency assistance and is on call at any hour. Sgt. James Cotter, who directs police training and safety, states the department also has a wrecker service with well trained personnel that is available on 24-hour call for any emergency situation. This service is needed particularly in accidents where victims must be extricated from wreckage.

The Insurance Journal emphasizes the importance of every community having a model ambulance ordinance similar to that developed by the National Safety Council.

Such an ordinance is being drafted by the city council's committee on public safety and should be ready for submission within the next two or three months.

Emergency departments are in operation at both Appleton hospitals on a 24-hour basis Active and associate medical staff members accept assignments for emergency room coverage on a rotating basis Specialists in practically every field are available for consultation.

Plans Developed

John R. Shepard, administrator of Appleton Memorial Hospital, says the hospital nursing staff is geared to meet any emergency need and has developed plans to cope with major disasters.

Appleton Memorial was surveyed last fall by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals and received accreditation for the maximum three-year period.

The new emergency room at the hospital was occupied last Tuesday. The construction program for this new area was developed by a team approach of medical staff, nursing staff, ambulance service and architect.

As at Memorial Hospital, x-ray and laboratory facilities at St. Elizabeth Hospital are adequate and efficient in the prompt and thorough care of emergency victims, whether they be injured in accidents or suddenly overcome by illness or physical ailment.

Sister Kathleen, admmistrator of St. Elizabeth Hospital, expressed complete confidence in the emergency resources available to the people of Appleton and the hospital's instant readiness to respond to any such situation.

Turquoise, Bronze, Tan

Appleton Squad Cars Sport Spring Colors

The Appleton Police Department car fleet has taken on a new look.

No longer are squad cars the standard, solid white color. Nine of the 13 cars — including the 1968 Dodges — are turquoise, bronze, and tan. The other four squad cars, including two 1967 autos and two 1968s, are white

The department also has four three-wheeled, enclosed vehicles (West Coasters) and two motorcycles.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said the department probably would continue to use colored autos. White squad cars had been "standard equipment" here for many years

Not Sneaky

There were several reasons for switching to various colored cars, Wolff said. Trying to be "sneaky" was not among the reasons, he explained. He said that even though the cars are of colors motorists are not accustomed to, they still have the same complement of noticeable exterior emergency equipment — including twin top-mounted red lights and siren speakers.

A few "unmarked" cars are still used for some traffic work and by detectives.

Economy played a major role in the decision to purchase other than white autos, Wolff said. The colored cars will bring more on trade-in, according to auto dealers.

People Notice

"We wondered if people really notice police cars," Wolff said. On the basis of response to the multi-colored fleet, he said, it appears people do notice.

Another change in the new squad cars was that to standard upholstery, instead of the plain, durable vinyl interiors in cars of past years. Here again, a possible increase in trade-in was a major factor, Wolff said.

He added that the new cloth materials are long-wearing and easy to clean.

Traveling Art Show In Appleton

"People, Places and Things," is the title of the new traveling art show at the Appleton Public Library. It will be on display through April 20.

Helen Van Wyk, whose works are in oils, is an artist teacher in New Jersey. An avid traveler, she tours the county conducting art seminars and gathering subjects for paintings. During the past few years she has visited more than 90 cities and painted on the spot about 100 portrait sketches in her lecture-demonstration series.

She has studied both here and in Europe, is the winner of numerous prizes and her work has been exhibited in many national shows and is represented in a number of public and private collections.

The 16 paintings in this traveling exhibition reflect some of Miss Van Wyk's best works in figures, landscape and still life. The exhibit is circulated on national tour of museums, art centers, colleges and libraries by Old Bergen Art Guild of Bayonne, N.J. Most of the paintings are for sale.

Measles Is On Way Out In Wisconsin

Medical Report Says 1967 Was Record Low Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Measles may be on the way out in Wisconsin, according to a report to the State Medical Society on the results of the widespread immunization program conducted by physicians and public health officials in recent years.

The year 1967 showed the lowest rate of measles infection in Wisconsin ever recorded, with only 2.8 per cent of the cases that were counted in an epidemic year and only 12.5 per cent of the cases of the lowest measles year out of the preceding 11 years. This was revealed in a report by a team of physicians who analyzed the incidence of the disease, its trends, and the evident consequences of the immunization program.

Vaccine in 1965

The use of the measles vaccine in the state started late in 1965, but in some instances, the program was not begun until 1966. At that time a frequency of the disease reaching epidemic proportions was anticipated for 1966 by specialists.

But the immunization work had the effect of dampening the epidemic considerably, with the result that there were 30,775 cases recorded. That compared with earlier epidemic years as 1958 with nearly 73,000, and 1963 with nearly 69,000.

Some physicians started using the measles vaccine in 1963, and it has been used on a community-wide basis since September of 1966.

At the last count, nearly 82,000 Wisconsin children have been immunized, about 44 per cent of them of pre-school age.

A considerable amount of the measles vaccine has been distributed without charge to practitioners by the State Division of Health.

"The introduction of the vaccine is well underway. Physicians and other health workers should be encouraged with the results to date," the summary report observed.

Troop Enforce Calm on Cities

to the city to aid 6,000 National Guardsmen, and shortly after midnight officials said the situation seemed to be under control.

Five persons were killed in the violence and more than 300 injured. One official said there had been 420 fires set, 550 stores looted and more than 1,350 persons arrested.

More than 1,800 National Guardsmen marched into Pittsburgh's predominantly Negro Hill District Sunday night, but by early today a state police official said "things are settling down."

Scattered Violence

Scattered firebombings and looting were reported far into the night, but the frequency dropped sharply about three hours after a 7 p.m. curfew went into effect. The streets were almost deserted by late evening.

The shaky calm in Chicago and the nation's capital was being enforced by 22,000 Army troops and National Guardsmen.

Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's riot troubleshooter in Washington, said shortly before midnight: "The city appears to be experiencing another night of relative calm. We are not yet out of the woods, but I am hopeful the encouraging trend will continue."

Emergency Acts

Washington Mayor Walter E. Washington announced a series of emergency measures to "meet the human needs." Long lines formed outside the few open supermarkets and community groups collected food for meals and tried to find ways to provide cash for families left penniless by the disaster.

The violence left six dead and the death toll may rise to eight if two other deaths are ruled riot-connected. Almost 1,000 persons were injured, more than 4,000 were arrested and more than 750 fires were set.

Residents of Chicago, where nine persons died in a wave of violence, burning and looting, also tried to resume normal life. More than 300 persons were homeless, however, and a serious food shortage was expected because stores in the riot area had been either stripped by looters or closed and boarded up.

Detroit, where two persons were killed in violence Thursday and Friday, remained calm, but guardsmen continued to patrol the streets and an 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew was still in effect.

New York Quiet

In New York City, both Harlem and the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn—both predominantly Negro—were quiet, following looting Friday night. "It's been like a tomb," said a policeman in Bedford-Stuyvesant. "The only unusual thing is the number of policemen on duty."

Elsewhere in the country, violence flared sporadically.

Firemen in Joliet, Ill., were hampered by Negroes as they tried to battle a series of blazes. A block-long complex of three warehouses was burned to the ground. An 8 p.m. to 5:30 a.m. curfew was imposed for a second night.

Occasional Clashes

Violence and occasional clashes between police and Negroes occurred in Des Moines, Iowa, scene of a peaceful memorial march for King early Sunday. Police said at least six fires had been started, windows were broken and cars damaged by thrown bricks.

Roving bands of Negroes in Wilmington, N.C. wrecked several business sections, tossing rocks and bottles through store windows. Some 750 National Guardsmen patrolled the streets and Gov. Dan Moore mobilized an additional 1,000 for possible duty.

Florida Gov. Claude Kirk placed 75 National Guardsmen on standby alert after one store was burned and several windows broken in Gainsville.

Memphis, Tenn., Tallahassee, Fla., and Minneapolis, all of which had one death in the wake of King's killing, were reported quiet.

Israeli Troops Chase Arab Terrorists Back Into Jordan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli troops in helicopters chased a band of Arab commandos out of the Negev Desert and pursued them six miles inside Jordan south of the Dead Sea today, the Israeli army reported. The Israelis withdrew after inflicting a number of casualties and blowing up part of an Arab guerrilla complex, the army added.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the action was a limited one that lasted 105 minutes. He denied a Jordanian claim that Israeli armored columns and helicopter troops covered by jet fighters had invaded Jordan.

Jordanian military headquarters also reported fighting north of the Dead Sea near the Allenby Bridge, a major crossing point between Jordan and the Israeli-occupied sector of Jordan. The sound of gunfire could be heard in Amman, 25 miles east of the cease-fire line.

The Tel Aviv communique said the Israeli force entered Jordan 35 miles south of the Dead Sea near Dahal, part of the alleged Arab commando complex hit by Israeli troops in their lightning strikes inside Jordan on March 21.

The Israelis gave this version:

A helicopter patrol spotted the commandos in the Negev near the Ein Yahov Kibbutz, a community farm. Other helicopters with sharpshooters aboard were called in.

The helicopters swarmed down on the commandos as they headed across the desert toward Jordan. Sharpshooters picked off several of them in the 12-mile chase.

Once across the border, the Israeli helicopters set down outside the commando complex near Dahal. The Israeli soldiers launched a ground assault against the complex and inflicted more casualties. One house in the complex was blown up.

The Israelis then withdrew.

In Amman, a military communique said an Israeli invasion force of armor and helicopter-borne troops "covered by a thick umbrella of Israeli jets" drove into low-lying country southeast of the Dead Sea. It said Jordanian troops engaged the invading force and that heavy fighting ensued.

At the same time, it added, 45-minute and 10-minute artillery duels raged across the cease-fire line north of the Dead Sea in the Karameh area which was another target of the Israeli strike March 21.

'Mother Goose' Will Save Endangered Eggs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — State and federal crews will begin Operation Mother Goose Thursday.

They will use boats and helicopters to lift more than 1,000 goose eggs from their nests before water begins backing up behind the John Day Dam on the Columbia River.

The eggs will be taken to Kennewich, Wash., for artificial incubation. After the geese hatch, they will be placed in nests along the Columbia.

Enemy Contact Likely

Robb Gets Command Of Marine Company

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — President Johnson's Marine son-in-law went on his first patrol in Vietnam today, then took command of a rifle company that has been in daily contact with the enemy.

No action was reported on the partol.

Capt. Charles S. Robb took over India Company, 3rd Battalion, 7th Marines, from Capt. James R. Reeder of Evansville, Ind.

"The men will be watching him," said Reeder, "but I'm sure he will do well. He's a good officer."

Robb had no comment for newsmen.

Reeder said India Company includes a number of veterans with previous tours in the country.

"They have lots of kills to their credit and have had contact with the enemy every day for the last 10 days," he said.

The company is assigned to the Da Nang area.

Thousands Making Pilgrimage for King

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sorrowing Americans continued their pilgrimage to the hometown of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. today. From across the nation they came, in chartered planes, by car, by bus, by train.

White, black, rich, poor, famous and unknown—they came from the tenant farms of Mississippi, strife-torn cities, Hollywood, state capitals, Congress and consulates.

They came by the thousands to pay final tribute to the civil rights leader, who will be buried Tuesday after services at Ebenezer Baptist Church, where King served as pastor with his father.

Some slept on cots in church basements. Some moved in with Atlanta families. Others found rooms at hotels.

Negro Cemetery

But they came, to stay until King is laid to rest in South View Cemetery, founded in 1886 by Negroes who rebelled against the city's segregation. Negroes then had to take their dead through the back entrance of the main cemetery.

Back door treatment can no longer be tolerated by Negroes, said the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, taking up the leadership of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"In losing Dr. King, the black people have made the greatest sacrifice in their history," he said. "Such a loss can only be redeemed by a social gain of the same magnitude.

"White America has the opportunity to rise to greatness at this moment by burying hesitation and delay, by properly honoring the most moral man of this century, by liberating black Americans and all the poor, black and white."

Going to Memphis

Abernathy and 88 others planned to fly to Memphis to support striking garbage workers, who were being backed by King when he was assassinated Thursday night by a sniper. However, heavy fog at Atlanta airport delayed the scheduled 8 a.m. departure.

Abernathy had said Mrs. King would also fly to Memphis, but an associate reported this morning that Mrs. King was undecided whether to make the trip. She had not arrived at the airport by 9:30 a.m. and a spokesman said she was concerned about the weather.

Dozens of other followers of King were grappling with problems of feeding, housing and transporting his admirers who started converging on Atlanta Sunday.

Private homes and churches were opened to take in those who could not find or afford lodging in this Georgia city that was readying itself for up to 100,000 visiting mourners.

Officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which King formed, said they expected President Johnson or Vice President Humphrey for the funeral. A source close to the White House said it was doubtful the President would be able to attend.

Dignitaries who have said they will pay personal tribute include Sen. Robert F. Kennedy; Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Undersecretary-General Ralph Bunche of the United Nations and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay. Numerous celebrities, including Marlon Brando, Bill Cosby, Sidney Poitier, Sammy Davis Jr., Mahalia Jackson and Harry Belafonte plan to attend services.

Funeral by Invitation

Attendnce at services in Ebenezer Baptist Church—which can hold only 1,300—will be by invitation only. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Abernathy and the Rev. William Holmes Borders of the Wheat Street Baptist Church.

Mrs. King, who tearfully viewed her husband's body Sunday with her four children at her side, decided against a eulogy at the funeral service. Dr. Benjamin Mays, retired president of Morehouse College where he once taught King, will deliver a eulogy at the memorial service at the quadrangle of Morehouse.

The funeral cortege will march the mile from the church to the college, barring rain. Miss Jackson and the Ebenezer church choir and the Morehouse glee club will sing.

The funeral cortege will go by car to the South View Cemetery, five miles from Morehouse. King will be entombed in a marble mausoleum on a grassy hillside.

dungarees, work clothes and sweaters.

Scattered groups along Main Street, mostly Negroes in the Negro section of town, watched quietly.

"Hey you, down at the end." a parade marshal shouted at two pretty young women who tried to join the middle. "We don't let nobody break the ranks."

The marchers walked in ranks of eight. In the front row, there was a vacant spot—the spot where the march's assassinated leader would have walked.

Today's march had been planned by King as a demonstration in support of a strike by Memphis garbagemen, most of them Negroes. After he was slain Thursday, it became a memorial march for King as well.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said Sunday in Washington that investigators have "one man on the run." He added, "We hope to have an early conclusion to the investigation, followed by indictment, trial and conviction."

"We have a name we're working on," he said. "We know quite a bit more than we did two days ago."

PEWAUKEE (AP)—The noise of strong winds was blamed for having prevented a teen-age girl from hearing the train which struck and killed her near a crossing in Pewaukee Sunday.

Police Chief Russell Bergles said Debbie Finger, 13, of Waukesha was struck by a Milwaukee Road passenger train despite warnings shouted by fishermen on a railroad embankment at the edge of Pewaukee Lake.

Victoria's Good Name Protected in London

LONDON (AP) — A play depicting Queen Victoria and Florence Nightingale as lesbians was canceled Sunday night after the police threatened prosecution.

Edward Bond's "Early Morning" was to have been given by the English Stage Society at a members-only performance at the Royal Court Theater.

It was put on last Sunday night. The final performance this Sunday night would have been a sellout. Instead, ticket money was refunded and the society held a panel debate on censorship.

Spring's Holy Days Share Hope

EDITOR'S NOTE — Both the Jewish holidays and the Christian holidays in the spring have a similar central theme — triumph. This is the first in a series of five articles about the Judeo-Christian festivals held at this time of year, in which nature, too, gives new life and renewed life.

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Golden threads embroider the air. The earth breathes a fresh incense, and under the sun, the roots stir, the sap flows again and buds burst on the branches of the great elms.

It is the childhood of the year, the season of the robin's singing, of meadows turning green, of life renewed. It's the happy time of people's faith.

And joyfully, they celebrate it, in temples, churches and homes.

It brings a brightness — a longer, better view — in a time of trials, of Vietnam war, of poverty amid plenty, of interracial stresses. It says that through it all, there's cause for cheer and confidence.

Song of Solomon

The sentiment sounds in the Song of Solomon:

"For lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone. The flowers appear on the earth, the time of the singing has come, and the voice of the turtledove is heard in our land."

Out of the winter's night stretches the warming dawn. An April glow surmounts the gloom. On the heels of the storm comes sweet serenity. Against a background of hardship, and in a world of trouble, suddenly, it's spring.

That's the heart-lifting chord of the period's sacred festivals.

"Weeping may tarry for the night," wrote the Psalmist, "but joy comes in the morning."

For the closely connected Judeo-Christian heritage, the most widespread of the world's religions, the largest in numbers and the oldest in origin, the springtime holy days share that central theme of triumph.

It runs, buoyantly, through the beginning observance of the season's religions calendar, Judaism's merry day of Purim, which recalls the foiling of a plot to destroy the Jews of the ancient Persian empire.

The event turned "sorrow into gladness," relate the scriptural book of Esther, which directs that it be marked annually by "feasting and gladness," ny "sending choice portions to one another and gift s tot ehpoor." "sending choice portions to one another and gifts to the poor."

So it is. "Thou hast ever been Israel's salvation, and its hope in every generation, to make known that all who hope in Thee shall not be confounded ..." goes a Purim meditation.

An even stronger note of marveling trust and victory over travail pervades the celebration of the greater feast of the Passover, commemorating the deliverance of the Israelites from slavery in Egypt.

"I will sing to the Lord, for He has triumphed gloriously," goes a hymn for the occasion, from Exodus 15. "The horse and his rider He has thrown into the sea. The Lord is my strength and my song and He has become my salvation."

In connection with that occasion, and also characterized by rejoicing at deliverance and the championing of life over persecution and death is Christianity's Easter celebration of the resurrection of Christ.

He is their "passover," as the New Testament descibes Him, from mortal bondage to an eternal promised land.

"We have passed out of death into life ..." wrote St. John. "This is the victory that overcomes the world."

Seven weeks later came two other parallel holidays — the Jewish "Shavuoth," commemorating God's giving of the 10 Commandments on Mount Sinai, and the Christian "Pentecost," making the divine outpouring into men of the divine spirit of love, insight and mutual understanding.

"Therefore my heart was glad and my tongue rejoiced," declared an exhilarated apostle Peter on that day, reciting a Psalm. "Thou hast made known ... the ways of life ... with thy presence."

Both events, interlinked by occasion and meaning, memorialize casion and meaning, memorialize the bestowal of Godly guidance among men — the great commandments and an inner awareness.

"Arise, shine, for your light has come," wrote the Prophet Isaiah. "And the glory of the Lord has risen upon you ... Lift up your eyes round about and see."

These, then, are the major Jewish - Christian festivals of spring, their dates carying annually, often diverging from original concurrence because of differences in the church's calendar and the ancient Hebrew calendar, and falling this year as follows:

Purim, on the 14th day of Adar (February-March) in the old Jewish calendar, came on March 14.

Passover, beginning on the 15th day of Nisan (March-April), occurs this year on Friday, April 12, and lasts until Saturday, April 20.

Easter Sunday, on April 14 in western churches, on April 21 in eastern Orthodox churches.

Shavuoth, on the 6th day of Sivan (May-June), comes on June 2-3.

Pentecost, on June 2.

The earliest of the sequence, Purim, which has already been observed, is the gayest and merriest of Jewish festivals — a sort of carnival of joy and frivolity.

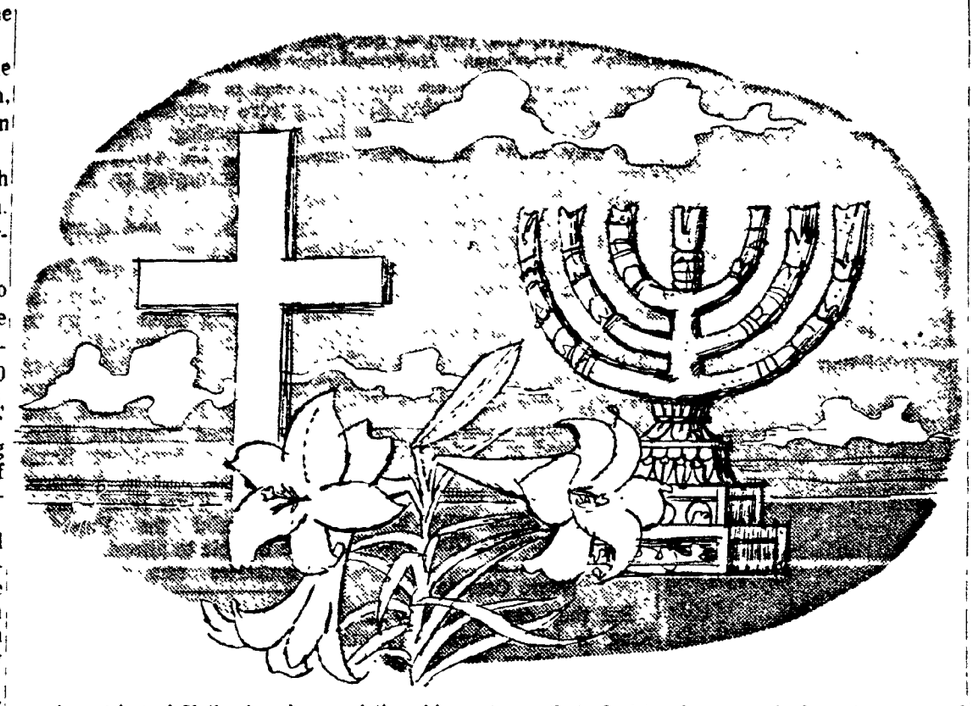
In Jewish schools and parties, it is marked with costume masquerades, plays, practical jokes, pageants, the serving of three-cornered pastries filled with poppy seeds, and an interchange of gifts, mainly food delicacies.

Morning Service

The highlight is a morning synagogue service, with the reading of the book of Esther, recounting how she, as the Jewish wife of King Ahasuerus (Xerxes) of ancient Persia, upset a plot by the king's vizier, Haman, to exterminate Jews.

Instead, the despot Haman was hanged, and Esther's adoptive father, the Jew Mordecai, who had refused to bow before Haman, was elevated to a place of honor.

In the synagogue reading of the Biblical account, when the name, Haman, is mentioned, a noisy tumult breaks out as children ring their noisemakers, and the elders stamp their feet.



The commotion depicts the beating out of the name of the tyrant, who had threatened the massacre of Jews, and who had set the day for it by drawing lots (pur) — which gives the name to the holiday.

Through all these principal religious jubilees of spring runs that keynote of new hope, of joy and an ordeal overcome, of thanksgiving at a wrong righted, of continuing cause for confidence.

"Make a joyful noise to the Lord, all the earth!" urges the Psalmist. "Raise a song, sound the timbrel ... Blow the trumpet at the new moon, at the full moon, on our feast day."

How Do War, Peace Affect Stock Prices?

BY SYLVIA PORTER

What might the stock market do after the war in Vietnam finally ends? The way the stock market took off on the news of de-escalation and Hanoi's response was so dramatic that you surely might wonder whether this has been the pattern when previous wars have ended, and if there are any lessons at all to be learned from the past.

In this column, you'll find the facts. The measurement is the familiar Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks; Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith supplied me with the figures.

As you study the patterns, ponder these fundamental implications which I found in them:

All-Time Peaks

First, no matter what the initial trend at the end of the three previous major wars of the 20th century, stocks went on to all-time peaks. This happened in the mid-1920's after World War I; in the late 1940's after World War II; in the mid-1950's after the Korean conflict.

Second, the direction of stocks in each period was, as you might reasonably expect, profoundly influenced by whether the end of hostilities brought a business slump and if so, how severe it was. After World War I, there was a short but full-fledged depression and stocks collapsed; after Korea, there was only relief and an easing of curbs and stocks skyrocketed.

Third, you easily could have been whipsawed into financial oblivion if you tried to outsmart the postwar trading trends. But if you bought sound stocks and held, you prospered.

Now the details.

"Silk-Shirt Depression"

World War I ended with the Armistice of Nov. 11, 1918. A smart stock rally began almost at once but in late 1919 it was aborted by the fact that the U.S. economy's transition to peace was handled so stupidly that the country plummeted into the "silk shirt depression." In 1920-21, stock prices were cut by more than half and it wasn't until 1924 that the market regained the levels of 1919. In 1924, stocks took off in an historic bull market.

World War II ended with V-J Day on Sept. 2, 1945. The initial response was a sharp rally, then a decline, but this time, no depression was permitted to develop and the stock drop was held to less than 25 per cent.

The market slumbered for a couple of years until in 1949, stocks again took off.

Korean Aftermath

The Korean war ended in two phases — truce negotiations starting in July, 1951 and an Armistice in July, 1953. During the truce talks, stocks fluctuated within a wide range. After the Armistice, stocks went into an almost perpendicular advance.

Korea was a much smaller conflict than the World Wars. The Armistice meant the end of detested controls and tight money and the start of a major plant expansion - modernization boom.

This underlines the interpretation that Wall Street's upsurge after President Johnson's TV address was on the move toward peace, and not on the news that Johnson is bowing out except in the sense that this might speed peace.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, April 8, the 99th day of 1968. There are 267 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1513, the Spanish explorer, Ponce de Leon, landed in Florida, seeking the fountain of youth.

On this date—

In 1730, the first Jewish congregation to be organized in America consecrated its synagogue in New York City. The congregation dated back to 1655.

In 1826, Secretary of State Henry Clay fought a duel with Sen. John Randolph of Virginia. Neither was hurt.

In 1865, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant asked Gen. Robert E. Lee to surrender. Lee sent a note asking the terms of peace.

In 1904, France and Britain signed the "Entente Cordiale," beginning an era of close cooperation between the two powers.

In 1939, King Zog of Albania fled from Italian occupation forces.

In 1952, President Harry S Truman seized the steel industry to try to avert a general strike.

Bandages 'Heal' Man Believed Fatally Shot

POWELLSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Tavern owner James Madison Keemer, 50, shot a recent night during an argument with a customer, appeared to be dead and an undertaker was called.

But signs of life were detected and Keemer was taken to a hospital, where a doctor discovered the bullet had passed through his body without apparent damage to any internal organs. The doctor applied two small bandages and Keemer was released.

Soldier Executed In S. Vietnam; First in 2 Years

PHU CUONG, Vietnam (AP) — As 3,000 persons watched, an army firing squad executed a South Vietnamese soldier recently for rape and murder. It was the first public execution in South Vietnam in two years and was evidently an attempt to convince the public that the military is not exempt from the criminal law.

The soldier, Pvt. Nguyen Cong Khanh, 27, was convicted of raping and murdering a 19-year-old girl last year during a military sweep around the village of Phu Cuong, 15 miles north of Saigon. A companion who escaped was convicted in absentia and also sentenced to death.

The slain girl's family was among the spectators at the execution in Phu Cuong.

The last such execution was two years ago in Saigon when a Chinese merchant was shot for profiteering.

Preacher Suing Movers

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The Rev. William D. Ingham of Nitor is suing a moving firm for $30,000, claiming the company lost his 600 sermons while moving his belongings from Philadelphia last year.

John Huston Turns to Low-Budget Movie

Epic Maker Now Directing Romantic 'A Walk With Love' in French Setting

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Huston disclosed a novel plan this week. In these days of multimillion-dollar budgets he'll make a movie for, he hopes, less than $1 million.

"For a long time I've been harboring an ambition to make a picture on a low budget, a picture that wasn't an epic," the Oscar-winning director told a trade-press luncheon.

Tall and craggy-faced, speaking in the rolling tones of his Noah and voice of the Almighty in his $12-million "The Bible...in the beginning," Huston told why he had this wish:

Houston

While directing a simple scene of the $7-million "Reflections in a Golden Eye" in Italy he counted 180 crew members, truck drivers, caterers, etc., behind the camera, and—

"This makes a director uneasy. The desire to make the scene good is somehow shaded by the desire to get it finished and save another $10,000."

Huston, 61, for 17 years a resident of Ireland, will film "A Walk With Love" in the romantic drama's setting, French chateaus and terrain he estimated would cost $15 million to reproduce in Hollywood.

Daughter in Movie

The feminine star, in her dramatic debut, will be his dark-haired, soulful-looking daughter Anjelica, 16. For Huston this is an interesting sequel: He directed his late father, Walter Huston, in "Treasure of the Sierra Madre," and both won Oscars.

His crew will number no more than 30. On previous Huston pictures, he said, there were "at least 75 people on the floor."

A visit to a movie set in Sweden confirmed his wish to streamline. A complicated scene with three actors and camera movement had only 12 men behind the camera.

"The repose, the quiet was something to be envied," Huston said.

A reporter asked, "What keeps you from making a low-budget film in the United States?"

System to Blame

"The unions," Huston replied, but in an interview he softened this, blaming the Hollywood system.

"The way pictures are made here, the costs, the overheads and the salaries of stars make minutes precious," he said. "It's cheaper in the long run to have huge crews that can turn the wheel instantly."

But speaking of so-called runaway production abroad, Huston told the newsmen: "It seems an old-fashioned conception, parochial in the extreme, to try to limit picture-making to one area. As the screen has widened, so has the field of production. Pictures are being made everywhere."

Lives in Galway

Huston lives with his fourth wife, former dancer Ricky Soma, and their son and daughter in a country manor in County Galway.

"I like Ireland enormously," he said of self-exile from Hollywood. "There's a trout stream through my land. I'm a horseman. Friends come and visit me. For work I'm centrally located. I can be in Rome in four hours, Paris less than two hours.

"It's a kind of life that would be difficult to find in the United States."

9-10 (Channels 2-7) — Carol Burnett's winning ways and great comedic sense provide another excellent outing for The Carol Burnett Show. She is near perfect as the beleagued wife of the Jolly Green Giant in a VIP interview; as an exaggerated Hollywood columnist and as a sexy weather girl who does a strip as the weather gets hotter. She also plays a 90 year old Aunt Molly arguing with her husband (Williams Schallert) and a jazzed up Southern belle on a showboat. Ken Berry guests with an excellent "Mack the Knife" and Trini Lopez offers a medley including "Sunny". (C)

7 New Songs by Mancini-Mercer In 'Darling Lili'

Seven new songs by the Academy Award-winning team of Henry Mancini and Johnny Mercer will be introduced in "Darling Lili," new musical which stars Julie Andrews and Rock Hudson.

Six of the Mancini-Mercer compositions will be sung by Miss Andrews in her role as a World War I British singing idol who actually is a German spy.

They are "Whistle Away the Dark," "I'll Give You Three Guesses," "Smile Away Each Rainy Day," "Skal," "A Girl in No Man's Land" and "Chantons Comm' P'Tits Oiseaux."

The seventh song, "Your Good Will Ambassador," will be sung by another member of the cast.

Mancini and Mercer were honored with Oscars for "Moon River" and "The Days of Wine and Roses."

Miss Andrews also will sing many standards of the World War I period including "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "There's a Long, Long Trail a-Winding," "Mother Machree," and "Red Wing". She also will sing the French national anthem "La Marseillaise."

Use Numbers and Letters For an Auto License Game

BY CAPPY DICK

Using homemade equipment, the game of "Auto License" can provide hours of fun for boys and girls.

The first step is to cut 92 pieces of construction paper, each three-fourths of an inch square. With pen, pencil or crayon, print the alphabet on 52 of them, preparing two cards for each letter as shown in Figure 1 of the adjoining illustration.

On 36 of the remaining squares print four sets of numbers, each set going from 1 to 9 (see examples in Figure 2). On the last four squares print zeros. Print the letters and numbers on only one side of the squares. Pile all of them at the center of the table.

There must be at least three persons taking part, one serving as an umpire. The umpire decides upon a license number the other players are to try to form. As in the picture above, he might say, "Make license number XGS — 765."

The two players start searching through the squares to find the necessary letters and numbers. The first one to locate and line them up in the proper order is the winner.

When the squares have been returned to the pile, the umpire calls for another license number and the game continues.

High Suicides Among Young People Linked to Frustration With Society

By NANCY BETH JACKSON

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Suicide, man's decision to risk death rather than life, seems hardest to understand among the young who have their lives stretching ahead like super highways with no speed limits.

Yet it happens.

A Florida state representative's son, age 21, is found in his car on a deserted stretch of beach, a gun by his side and a bulet hole through his right temple.

A North Carolina college freshman slips a belt around his neck, secures it to an overhead light fixture and steps off the bed to his death.

A 25-year-old graduate student, believing he has failed his thesis, ends it all by leaving a 21st floor storage room through the window. He doesn't know his thesis has already been judged superior.

14-Year-Old Dies

A 14-year-old in Massachusetts hangs himself with a necktie from the closet rod, leaving a note to his father reading, "I love you, but I just can't go through life. I can't take the ridicule of those bastards at school."

Although statistics about apparent suicides are deceiving and difficult to pin down, enough young people decide they "just can't go through life" to make suicide the second cause of death (after accidents) among college students and third (after accidents and cancer) in the 15 to 19 age group.

Of course young people don't die of much else. On the other hand, many suicides never show up in the statistics to protect the family, church or school or because, as in the case of automobile fatalities, suicides are difficult to pinpoint.

What young people commit suicide?

Depression Cited

Excluding those who choose to die for a cause or to speed the end of a terminal illness, the individual is often in a pit of depression from which he sees no other exit at the moment. He can be rich or poor, brilliant or just passing, son of a socialite, clergyman or a day laborer.

Among collegians, the suicide victim is probably a male. Girls, perhaps because they seem to favor slashed wrists and pills over guns and other more violent avenues, are more often suicide gestures.

The potential suicide usually gives warning, although it is not a red flag waving in a classroom or any symptom which would show up on a medical chart. Yet parents, a roommate, a floor counselor or the family physician should be alert to changes in behavior.

Advise Physicians

Dr. Edwin S. Shneidman and Dr. Larry H. Dizmang of the National Institute of Mental Health advise family physicians to look for depression in "the classical mood changes of despondency, feelings of hopelessness, helplessness, apathy, mental or motor retardation, loss of appetite and sleep disturbances."

Dr. Edmund E. Allen, as director of the Development Center of the University of South Florida, warns of previous attempts or gestures, any unusual or peculiar behavior, plans for a long, vague trip and withdrawal from normal life activities as preludes to suicide attempts.

Call for Help

Often without realizing it, the potential suicide uses these behavior hints as a call for help, love and attention.

Dr. Joseph P. Ansfield, chief psychiatrist at the University of Arizona Student Health Center, said, "Suicide is the final expression of depression The act itself is a cry for help. The student is desperate. In his own way of thinking, he sees this as the last and only resort. The suicide gesture is a cry to test if people really do care. He is depressed and in need of help."

How many young people need such help? Estimates vary.

While "Moderator," a magazine for college students, claimed 1,000 college students succeed in committing suicide each year, Dr. Richard K. McGee, an associate psychology professor at the University of Florida and co-author of a statistical study of suicide, believes a more accurate figure of annual suicides on campus is slightly under 300.

Over-Emphasis

"The general impression of psychologists counseling center personnel and other 'student-helpers around Florida is that the suicide problem is grossly over-emphasized."

Others, such as Dr. Shneidman, would call the 1,000 figure conservative.

Whether 300 or 1,000, the statistics don't answer the most important question about youthful suicides: why?

Is it pressure, both academic and social, which has seemed to increase each year as the postwar baby boom grew up in an increasingly complicated society? Is it the multi-university? Is it the war in Vietnam? Is it the family?

Roots in Family

According to psychologists, all these factors contribute to some extent to the mounting emotional stress which can lead to suicide, but the roots of the problem always seem to lead back to the family.

Dean William Butler, psychologist and vice president in charge of student activities at the University of Miami, said:

"On any campus 10 per cent of the population is in need of professional psychological counseling at any given time. That's a conservative estimate. Some psychologists believe it may be as high as 20 per cent."

Childhood Problems

Generally, the professionals trace the causes of such maladjustments to difficulties in childhood and youth rather than problems the youths face currently.

"It's not homosexuality, drugs or college. The problem is people. The external things are no more than inciting factors," said one Miami psychiatrist.

Yet a romantic breakup, guilt over premarital sex, or academic failure are often pinpointed as the surface reasons.

The instability of society and the poor peace prospects of the world contribute to the general mental uneasiness of today's youth, Dr. Butler said.

Frustration

"In general, most psychologists agree that frustration in one's society leads to severe depression and from there to suicide," Dr. Butler said. "What causes frustration? There is more frustration in society than ever before and this is reflected on the college campus."

The frustrations can lead to more than one form of suicide. Drug usage and dropping out are also ways of stepping out of life as it is.

"The actual suicide rate of the college student is only about one-third the rate for the same age group in the total population at large," said Dr. McGee. "This would lead us to conclude that actually college life, while it produces unique stresses, also provides supports and safeguards which may effectively prevent suicides."

Swimwear Reflects 'Thirties' Revival

Knit swimwear leads fashion's revival of the "Thirties." High frequency knits in full fashioned Orlon pave the way to the waves in one piece suits colored in out of sight stripings, while terrific tanksuits are coordinated with eye-stopper toppers of various lengths and looks.

For poolside sitters and sweater swimmers, there are sprightly cover-ups of coordinating colors and complementary silhouettes. Follow-the-sun in a long topper cardigan with front-strip accents, for instance, and when you reach the beach you'll be a real "sunsation!"

Sashed at the Waist and striped at the sleeve, the knit above reflects the languid look of the "Thirties" with all of the verve of the Sixties. At left, the one-piece in the guise of a two - piece swimsuit returns to the fashion scene complete with halter and a generous show of shoulders.

A Sleeveless cardigan reminscent of the "Thirties" makes a smashing coverup for a sleek-sweater swimmer of Orlon acrylic. Bright stripes march across the suit and down the cover-up creating an eye-catching effect on any beach.

She's a Fast-Draw

Maureen Reynon is the only woman member of a San Jose, Calif., fast-draw gun organization.

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — Around the United Technology Center spread, Maureen Reynon has the reputation of being a fast female on the draw—and they do mean pistols.

Miss Reynon works as a clerk-typist in the purchasing department of the UTC division of United Aircraft Corp. She plays at pistol packing.

The 95-pound, 5-footer is the only woman member of the Valley Gun Hawks, a San Jose fast-draw gun organization.

No live ammunition is allowed in fast-drawing shooting. The single-action guns shoot specially made wax pellets. In quick draw shooting, another area of the hobby, live ammo is used.

Miss Reynon "up-fans"—cocks the hammer—with her free hand while whipping her Ruger .357 pistol up from her holster. She can cock, aim, fire and hit a target in one-half second, about the time it takes to blink, podner.

She has entered five contests since taking up the hobby two years ago, and has won two firsts and two fourth places.

Navy Frogmen Father More Girls Than Boys

LONDON (AP) — The children of navy frogmen are nearly always girls, and nobody knows why.

Research showing this has been led by Cmdr. Philip White, 47, father of two girls.

"I began looking into this when a 12-man diving team with their wives in Malta produced 11 girls and only one son," White said. In another sample of 25 divers, 75 per cent of their children were girls.

"I believe this is a good deal more than chance. It might even be a key to predetermining the sex of a child."

A spokesman for the British Medical Research Council said: "This report has been discussed by some of our scientists but we have no explanation to offer."

Prof. J.C. McClure-Browne, an obstetrician at London's Hammersmith Hospital, said: "The possible reason that leaps to mind is the effect caused by pressure changes on the body."

Officers will be installed at the Mother's Day tea in May.

Lovelier You

Walking Poise

Do you give more thought to what you will wear than to how you will carry it off? There's a tendency to forget that graceful, poised carriage stamps your figure, fashions and personality with distinction. The kind that attracts admiring attention.

Everywhere one sees jiggles and wiggles as the girls pass by. And with those gyrations, good looks and poise bypass the girls. The mark of a graceful walk is flow — effortless with never a ripple. The secret of achievement is in a combination of firm hip muscles and balanced footwork. The one prevents jiggle, the other stops wiggle.

In walking, perfect balance is a matter of weight transference. Most people throw their entire weight from one foot to the other with every step. And the action sets up a seesaw motion in the hips. To correct the trouble, you must learn to suspend half your weight in the dead center of your body, letting only half fall on either foot as you move forward.

The following routine helps to improve your control and to firm up the hip muscles, too: Stand with back of hips touching back of straight chair; grasp its sides for support. Raise right knee and rest foot on left knee. Slowly come up onto toes of left foot and swing right leg forward to farthest reach. By reversing tactics, return to starting position. Repeat 10 times, alternating sides.

You can diet until you become feather-light and still be hip-heavy. Reduction in the hipline is assured only by exercise. For a set of quick and effective ones, send for my leaflet, "Hip Reducing Routines." Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Deaf Churchwomen Bear Their Load With Silence

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — Imagine women meeting and exchanging ideas without making a sound? This is what happens when members of Hawaii Circle of the Women's Missionary Society of the Hammond First Baptist Church meet.

Do Everything

They "speak" a language all their own because they are deaf. Ages of the 12 to 15 regular circle members range from 17 to 58.

"The circle was organized three and a half years ago," said Maxine Jeffries, "when we found a need for it.

"Deaf people need help in religion and Bible instruction too."

They sing, say prayers, sew, and do mission and white cross work at their meetings just like the eight hearing circles of the WMS.

Miss Jeffries feels there's nothing they can't do.

"They carry their load just like the other groups and they know the same things are expected of them.

"Most hearing people," she said, "don't understand a deaf person can't automatically lip read just because he or she is deaf."

They must have the capability and training to read lips.

There are a few women in the circle who lip read as well as "talk" in sign language, but all can converse in signs.

Language Different

Language for the deaf is different. A word which has one or two meanings in sign language may have as many as four, five or six uses for the general population.

"It sometimes gets difficult to explain what a word means as a speaker or guest uses it," Miss Jeffries said. "that's where the interpreter helps in getting the message and meaning across to them.

"The deaf aren't distracted easily, the noises around them don't bother them, so they make good workers," she added, "and we've been able to find jobs for some of them."

Sounds of Music Capture Attention

It's fun to try to blow a trumpet, pluck a violin and pound a drum The sound isn't quite the same as it is when someone older who knows how, draws the bow or holds the drumsticks, is it? But who cares—it's fun. Sometimes even startling!

And so it was when children from the Neighborhood Nursery School visited the band and orchestra rooms at Einstein Junior High School Thursday morning.

The children were entertained by members of a string quartet who played nursery tunes for them and by members of the band who demonstrated the sounds of a dozen instruments.

Neighborhood Nursery School meets at Our Saviors Lutheran Church five mornings a week—one session for three-year-olds and two sessions for each of two groups of four and five-year-olds. The classes are taught by Mrs. Everett Lee and Mrs. Glenn Ocock, both of whom are licensed teachers.

Field trips are just one of the many methods a nursery uses to enrich its program and expand children's worlds.

Dutch American Society Marks First Anniversary

COMBINED LOCKS — The Dutch American Society celebrated its first anniversary with a party at Oakwood Hills Supper Club March 30.

Elected president during the business meeting was Peter C. Radix, Green Bay. Mr. Radix will be assisted by Ton Ammerlaan, Appleton, vice president; Jack Brinkhoff, Kimberly, treasurer, and Mrs. Jack Brinkhoff, Kimberly, secretary.

Newcomers to the board of directors are Allen Mueller, first trustee, and Mrs. Mueller, second trustee. Re-elected for the second term were Mrs. Peter Van Herwynen, third trustee; Joseph Dykstra, activity chairman, and Peter Cabout, West Depere, publicity chairman.

A major project revealed for the second year is a charter flight to the Netherlands scheduled for departure in July, 1969. Members are eligible to participate in this program after one year of membership.

Proposals for the affiliation of the existing socker team and billiard club with the society will be posted as a referendum on the voting ballot during the next meeting. Also to be discussed are plans for the establishment of a Green Bay area chapter of the society.

The Dutch American Society was founded April 1, 1967. Information about membership can be obtained from any of the officers.

Old Volumes Restored by Bookbinder

MONTREAL (AP) — "My work is a labor of love," says Liseotte Stern, one of the world's few women master bookbinders.

It's a good thing, too. For although the profession is far from crowded, the absence of competition doesn't mean big money.

"For some reason people complain if they have to pay $10 or $15 for which they originally paid only $6.50," she says.

"They don't realize that sometimes 15 or 20 hours of labor go into the repair of an older volume.

Mrs. Stern, mother of three and grandmother of 10 earned the right to call herself a master bookbinder in her native Germany 35 years ago. She has given new life to books dating back as far as the 15th century.

"Each book is a completely different problem. Books that are brought to me may have been damaged by water, mildew, acid or just may have fallen apart from old age.

"I begin by cutting a book apart and tackling each page individually. The seams of the pages are mended with strips of Japan paper. If a book is badly stained it gets a vinegar bath."

Mrs. Stern is lso an expert calligrapher and can copy anything from medieval manuscripts to Arabic script.

This enables her to reproduce a page that may be beyond saving. To "age" such a page Mrs. Stern may soak it in weak tea or coffee until it acquires the same color as the original.

When a page is badly torn or crumbling with age, she glues French silk chiffon-gossamer evening dress material over the entire surface to hold it toether. The silk becomes almost invisible and the page must be held up to the light to detect any evidence of repair.

Mrs. Stern, whose husband Karl is a psychiatrist and author, does most of her work for McGill University's Osler and Redpath libraries and for the renowned Shakespeare collection of Montreal industrialist S. T. Fisher.

Y League Closes Season With Luncheon

Mrs. Al C. Fischer, Mrs. Arthur Jury and Mrs. Guy O. Johnson, first place team in the YMCA Women's Bowling League, were presented trophies at a luncheon Thursday in the El Lugar Room of the Y.

Mrs. Jack Mueller, Mrs. William Kettenhoven and Mrs. Ivo J. Guerts received second place trophies.

Special prizes were given to Mrs. Marshall Brewer, most improved player; Mrs. Lavern Bergner, high series, and Mrs. Arthur Jury, high game.

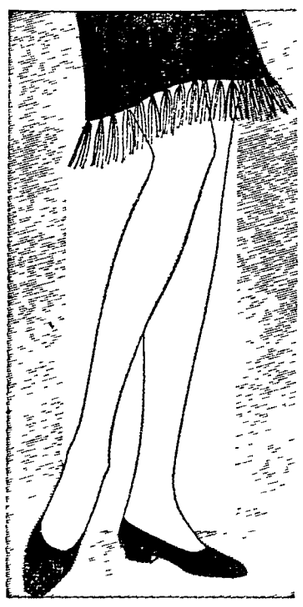
Why not! Have the Paris trend before others? French designer St. Laurent featured fringe throughout his collection, and it looked very right for today's swinging fashions. The fringe can best be found in upholstery departments, or you can loop thick yarn through the hem of a sweater or skirt and then trim evenly when finished. Best to select a color that matches or contrasts. Paris, '68.



Greg Wilkinson, at left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Wilkinson, listens intently and seems to be enthralled with the sound. Mary Beth Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mueller, just had to try the big brass drum. It makes such wonderful big sounds. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Custom-Made Menagerie Brightens Nursery Walls

If you're on the hunt for a baby shower gift or you simply want to give a tiny new friend a remembrance for Easter or for National Baby Week (April 27-May 4), don't limit your choice to clothes. Consider the nursery. It can always use some perky appointments . . . a cute pillow, a mobile to hang over the crib, or a picture.

And when it comes to pictures, what could be more appealing than a series of three-dimensional wall plaques featuring some lovable animals or a school of frisky fish? They can be custom-made in the kitchen for only pennies and without benefit of any special talent. To begin with, you'll need a clay which you concoct from two household staples, baking soda and corn starch, thusly:

Easy Recipe

Combine thoroughly in a saucepan 2 cups baking soda (one 1-pound package) and 1 cup corn starch. Add 1¼ cups cold water. Stir until smooth. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook a minute longer or until mixture resembles moist mashed potatoes. Transfer to a plate, cover with a damp towel, and when cool enough to handle, knead. Store all but a handful of clay in a closed pliofilm bag until ready to use. Roll out clay on waxed paper to ¼ inch thickness. Cut out animals or fish with cookie cutters or cut pictures from magazine. Place on clay, and with sharp knife cut around pattern. Finished pieces go on wire rack in a warm (350 degrees) turned-off oven for a half hour or until animals have dried and hardened. Paint in lively colors using water colors or tempera; dip each animal in clear shellac for a ceramic-like finish.

Now that your animals are finished, cut a heavy cardboard carton into 6 or 7-inch squares or 6 by 12 by 24-inch strips, depending on your intended designs Paint the cardboard in sunny colors and then mount animals with white glue.

Instead of investing in frames, outline the outer edges of the cardboard with contrasting colored paint or with strips of narrow tape. Add glue-on picture hangers to the back sides. And there you have it . . . a merry menagerie, all framed and ready to liven a nursery wall.

Three-Dimensional Wall Plaques featuring animals painted in sunny colors can be custom-made in the kitchen, out of a baking soda and corn starch clay, for just pennies. The final results make perky appointments for a nursery.

Korean Violinist Wins Famed Musical Award

By VIVIAN BROWN

NEW YORK (AP) — Kyung Wha Chung is a tiny, 5-foot violinist whose buoyant manner keeps her from looking weighed down by her violin.

Audiences have been captivated by the power behind the bow of the doll-like 19-year-old Korean girl.

In fact, taking the violin in stride may be one reason why she recently won the sought-after Leventritt award, the famed competition open to pianists and violinists. Van Cliburn and John Browning are among previous winners.

Kyung Wha is surprised by her own reaction to the award.

"I always talked about winning the award. I had the feeling that it would be some sort of climax. I've found that it is a big responsibility. I must prove myself over and over during my forthcoming concert tour.

Korean Tour

Before she begins her U.S. tour, she will go on a Korean concert tour with her musical family — five brothers and sisters who play cello, piano, clarinet, flute, trumpet. Another brother, a violinist, has gone into business.

"The Korean concert is for the benefit of our Korean-American foundation that will help educate talented students who can't afford to study," she explains.

The expense of a music education is very hard on parents, she points out. That's why it is necessary to get scholarships as she and her two older sisters have done at Juillard School of Music. The eldest sister, 26, went on to get a Master's Degree from Yale and another sister, 23, is a prize-winning cellist.

There are no music schools in Korea. They teach music theory in some high schools she says. Her mother started all the children at the piano when they were 4 years old. Later, they were directed to musical instruments for which they showed special skills.

"Piano is a good way to begin a music career," advises Kyung Wha. "There is something about it that makes you want to go on."

Family Restaurant

Her mother and father own a Korean restaurant in Seattle, a smaller edition of the 100-waiter restaurant they ran in Seoul. The family was disorganized during the Korean War but began coming to the United States in 1958. All were together by 1962.

Kyung has been winning awards in America for the last nine years.

When she has dates with boys, they go to concerts, but once in a while to celebrate some success she gives a large party in the apartment she shares with another girl.

"I wanted to have a midnight-all night party because I think parties are always better when they are late, but everyone was aghast at the idea, so I made it a 9:30 party."

Invited 30

She invited 30 people to that particular party and 70 showed up. The sandwiches she had prepared were consumed so quickly that she spent the night cooking rice dishes. But that didn't upset her.

"Any party is fun if you turn off the lights and have lots of music," says Kyung Wha, who is just about the jolliest music winner to come along in a long time.

The greatest thing that could happen to her, she says, would be to play her favorite Brahms and Beethoven on a great important violin. It's the dream of all contest winners she says, and sometimes it happens.

Kyung Wha Chung captivates her audiences with the power behind the bow of her violin. She recently won the sought-after Leventritt award, competition open to pianists and violinists.

Your Problems

Ann Says Answer Given Child About Death Unnecessary

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our seven-year-old daughter loved her grandpa very much. He was a kindly person who used to take Mary for walks and tell her fascinating stories Grandpa passed away suddenly two weeks ago. The child was very unhappy about his passing away and it was hard for her to understand why a God who is good would take away her best friend

Landers

Last week Mary was sitting on her grandmother's lap. I heard her ask if God would allow grandpa to play poker in heaven. Her answer was, "Of course not God does not allow card playing in heaven." (Grandma always hated grandpa's card playing, and everyone knew it, especially grandpa)

Mary was very sad about this and replied, "Oh, grandma, how too bad! That is what grandpa used to like to do best"

Later my wife and I were discussing the conversation Do you think grandma was right to answer Mary as she did? — Q Q

Dear Q.Q.: No. The child was searching for reassurance that her grandpa was happy in heaven. It was not necessary for grandma to give her a small lecture on the moral aspect of card playing. If the child should bring up the subject again tell her no one knows for sure what goes on in heaven — the very best a person can do is guess. And your guess is that grandpa is up there with aces back to back.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A great deal has been said to unwed mothers, but one seldom hears or reads anything directed to unwed fathers Why? After all, it is the male who carries the seed of life. Does it not then seem logical that he be held accountable for his behavior?

I have three sons, two in their teens, and I have made it clear to all three boys that if they get a girl in trouble they are going to marry her — regardless. No red-eyed miss is going to come to this house with her father at her side demanding that my son do the right thing I wish you'd discuss this in your column, Ann Landers It's a subject that needs airing. — Mother of Three

Dear Mother: I agree — young men should be taught that they have a responsibility toward the girls they date. Most boys, unfortunately think they are entitled to everything that is offered plus whatever they can talk a girl into.

On the other hand, I don't believe a forced marriage solves any problems. An unwilling groom makes a poor husband and a worse father.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married less than a year to a man who has many fine qualities, but — he is an accomplished check dodger

Whenever we are out with another couple, Norman manages to head for the men's room when he sees the waiter coming with the check. If his timing is poor and he is trapped at the table, he has a knack for looking the other way, or he is so slow about getting out his wallet that someone else pays. I hate for him to be a sponger and wonder why his friends let him get away with it. How can I put an end to it without hitting him head on? — Embarrassed Wife

Dear Wife: Since Norman seems to have an impediment in his reach, take matters into your own hands. Keep track of whose turn it is to pay and when it is Norman's turn take the check from the waiter and hand it to him.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell the Difference," by Ann Landers Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Don't Let Opponent Get Lead

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you have a dismal headache because one opponent is dangerous, you may use any method you choose to keep him out of the lead. For example, you may use the subject of this week's articles — the finesse. INSERT MAT

West leads the seven of spades, East puts up the nine, and you win with the king. You need four diamond tricks, but you cannot afford to let East in since he would lead a spade.

If you're a constant reader of some other newspaper you lead a heart to dummy's jack and return a low diamond to finesse with the jack. If the finesse lost you could run the rest of the suit In the meantime, West cannot continue the attack on spades

It's a brilliant idea, but the execution is flawed. Your finesse wins, but East still gets a diamond trick, and his spade lead defeats the contract.

Flawless Finessing

To make sure of keeping East out, lead a heart to dummy's jack and return the ten of diamonds from dummy. If East plays low, you let the ten ride and then repeat the finesse with another diamond to the jack.

East cannot save himself by covering the ten of diamonds with the queen. You win with the king of diamonds, lead a heart to dummy's queen, and lead another diamond in order to take a finesse with the eight of diamonds.

Since east has both the queen and nine of diamonds your two finesses work, and you make 10 tricks. If West had either the queen or the nine of diamonds he would win a diamond trick, but then you would still make your contract It's just a matter of reading the right newspaper.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S—6 3: H—A Q J: D—A 10 5 3 2; C—A 6 4 What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds. The hand is a bit too strong for a response of 2-NT since it counts not only to 15 points in high cards but also has a teb, a five-card suit. and thre aces.

Nelson Bill Specifies Drug Label

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. Gaylord Nelson introduced legislation Monday to require that all prescription drugs be labelled with their official or generic names when sold to the public.

The bill was the second in a package which Nelson has developed "to help modernize the nation's food and drug laws." The legislation results from hearings into prescription drugs which Nelson has been conducting since May, 1967, as chairman of the Senate Monopoly subcommittee.

"Expert medical witnesses have testified that the official or generic name provides the most precise identification for a drug," Nelson said. "Yet there is no law which requires that drugs be identified in this manner. Many customers receive prescriptions with no indication as to what they contain. Others receive drugs which are identified only by a copyrighted trade name. This is a glaring weakness in the law which must be corrected."

The bill would not affect in any way the physician's right to prescribe the drug of his choice, and to write the prescription in terms of copyrighted trade names.

"Blue Cross and Blue Shield vs. rising hospital-medical costs"

by Robert C. Haskins, Vice President, Professional Relations
Wisconsin Blue Cross Plan

"One way we attack the problem of rising hospital-medical costs is through our 14-man Professional Relations Division. This is the only group of its kind in the health care field—made possible because of our unique association with hospitals and physicians.

"Our men, four of whom hold Masters Degrees in hospital administration, are in constant contact with hospital and medical staff personnel providing a continuous flow of statistical information — helping them evaluate and provide the most effective service possible.

"Working closely with 'Hospital Utilization Committees,' we assist in analyzing the use of existing facilities, constantly attempting to find new and better ways of using them.

"With 'Wisconsin Area Hospital Planning Committees,' our representatives help determine the future health care needs of Wisconsin — so that unnecessary duplication of costly facilities is avoided.

"These are just a few specific examples. Blue Cross and Blue Shield are doing more than anybody in the health protection field about the problem of rising hospital-medical costs. Why? Because you depend upon us to give you the best value for your dollar."

Cyclist Dies After Crash In Appleton

Collides With Car, Is City's First 1968 Road Death

A 25-year-old Appleton motorcyclist who died early today of injuries he suffered in a Friday night accident was one of 12 persons who lost their lives in weekend traffic accidents on Wisconsin roads.

The death of Michael L. Verhagen, 2419½ S. Jackson St., raised the state's highway death toll to 249, compared with 194 on this date a year ago. His death was the first this year in Appleton and the sixth of the year in Outagamie County. Six persons also had died in the county on April 8, 1967.

Three weekend accidents claimed two lives each. One of the multiple fatality accidents occurred just east of Appleton, on State 96, about 12:30 a.m., Saturday, and claimed the lives of Kathleen Mary Lappen, 19, Kaukauna, and Louis J. Richardson, 22, Appleton.

Autopsy Ordered

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said he ordered an autopsy to determine the exact cause of Verhagen's death. The young cyclist died at 12:40 a.m. today at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

A Picket Walked Alongside the Menasha Library construction site at Second and Racine streets this morning as a walkout of local bricklayers closed down several construction jobs in the Twin Cities. The walkout reached throughout the Fox Valley as bricklayers, cement finishers and sheet metal workers and the Fox River Valley Contractors Association failed to reach agreement on a contract to replace one that expired April 1. Bricklayers Strike Halts Construction in 20 Counties

Picket Lines Honored by Other Trades as Masons Call Work Stoppage Over Issue on Wages

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Construction projects in 20 counties north of Fond du Lac — adding up to countless millions of dollars — were hit today by a strike of union bricklayers and cement finishers.

Their picket lines were being honored by supporting trades unions this morning.

Negotiations between the masons and Fox River Valley Contractors Association broke off last week. The old three-year contract expired April 1.

No mediation meetings were scheduled as of today, according to management and union sources.

Wages Key Issue

The stike was expected to halt all building projects where union workers are assigned throughout this part of the state, and north past Green Bay to the Michigan-Wisconsin line.

A dispute over wages holds the key to the dispute.

Emil St. John, Kaukauna, president of Local 10 Bricklayers and Cement Finishers, reported this morning that five locals in the Fox Valley were out, starting at Fond du Lac.

In the Fox Cities region several public works, school, church, hospital and private construction projects are likely to feel the effect of the walkout.

Lines Honored

Willard Raatz, representing the union laborers in this area, said his members were not crossing picket lines.

It has been estimated that while 700 to 800 bricklayers and masons are out, 4,000 to 5,000 union members from other trades, Teamster and Operating Engineers locals will also honor the picket lines.

Among the major building projects to be affected by the strike in the Fox Cities are those at St. Elizabeth, Appleton Memorial and Theda Clark hospitals, Institute of Paper Chemistry, new Congregational Church, Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. service center, Menasha library, Kaukauna sewage disposal plant, Combined Locks Paper Co. addition and others.

Project Stopped

There are at least 25 big construction projects in the Oshkosh area affected by the strike, including those at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and Winnebago State Hospital.

From $7 million to $10 million in building projects were reportedly ground to a halt in the Oshkosh area.

School Projects Picket Targets

To mention a few school projects, the $1.5 million new southside McKinley and $500,000 addition to Madison Junior High in Appleton were picket targets. Among those in the smaller communities in the region were schools going up at Seymour, Black Creek and Nichols.

City Takes Dim View

Hearing on Pipeline Suggested Again by State Resource Head

A state official again suggested to Appleton officials today that they might hold an informational hearing on the Lake Winnebago water project "as a public relations gesture."

Mayor George Buckley, City Atty. David Geenen and Planner Walter Rasmussen indicated they didn't think much of the idea.

There have been several public hearings and discussions on Appleton's water expansion project in the past. The city has met all legal requirements and received project approval from regional and state agencies.

Appleton presently is awaiting the action of the U.S. Corps of Engineers on the city's request for a permit to install a 1,200-foot intake line into the lake.

Talk On Phone

Mayor Buckley and Geenen both talked via phone with Freeman Holmer, Madison, administrator of the natural resources development for the State Department of Natural Resources.

Holmer told city officials he received another letter of protest from Gordon Bubolz, Appleton, who expressed "shock" that another hearing has not been scheduled. Bubolz is chairman of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission.

Holmer also indicated his office received complaints from residents of other communities over the Appleton project, alleging it would contribute to pollution.

City officials and consultants contend there is no basis for claims that taking water from the lake will add pollutants.

No Connection

Bubolz recently told The Post-Crescent he had no connection with groups outside the city that have been accused of attempting to stall or block Appleton's water program.

He made the statement after some of those who have been active in opposing the Appleton project said Bubolz was supporting their position and "working behind the scenes".

Buckley said this morning he told Holmer he saw no reason to

Janitor Attacked, Bound

Armed Robbers Hit 41 Bowl

Outagamie County authorities continued to search today for a small, late model car and two tall men who are suspects in an apparent armed robbery early Sunday morning at 41 Bowl, 3916 W. College Ave.

The men fled with an undetermined amount of change and merchandise from vending machines.

They left behind a janitor who told police he was struck on the head and back, and tied with electrical cord.

The janitor, Charles Roberts, 21, 111 Main St., Kimberly, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by ambulance, but was released a short time later. He reportedly has a small cut on his arm and a small bump on the head.

Roberts telephoned the sheriff's department at 7:40 a.m. Sunday and stated, "I'm the janitor at 41 Bowl. I'm tied up behind the counter."

Discover Janitor

Several traffic patrolmen and investigators were summoned. The first patrolman at the scene said he found Roberts in a south entryway, his hands tied behind him and his ankles tied together with wire from a wall-mounted juke box selector.

Police immediately searched the entire building. Roberts told them he came to work about 5:50 a.m., and was in the west end of the building when he heard a noise "like the building was cracking."

He went to investigate and found two men who had just entered through an east door, leading into the bowling alleys. Both men wore face masks — one a stocking and the other a pull-over ski mask — and one carried what appeared to be a .45 caliber pistol, Roberts told police.

The men ordered him into a women's restroom in the bowling alley portion of the building. Roberts said he was struck on the back, while his back was turned, and, while he was on his hands and knees, he was hit on the head.

Roberts said he was not sure what object was used to strike him, but when he "came to," he found a broken champagne bottle on the restroom floor. He said he awoke to find himself tied up.

Roberts told investigators he managed to crawl out of the restroom to the main desk, some 80 feet away. With his hands and feet still bound, he pulled the telephone from the counter and called the sheriff's department.

Machines Damaged

Investigators said that six pinball machines, several cigarette, candy, and cold drink vending machines, and juke boxes were pried open and the change taken. The amount of money taken will be determined after an inventory is made. There was considerable damage to the vending machines, investigators said.

A man working in the area of 41 Bowl told police that he saw two men "trotting" east from the building, across a small field, to a car parked behind a service station near 41 Bowl.

Police were told that the men drove away in a black and green Mustang. They drove onto W. College Avenue, then onto U.S. 41.

Roberts told police that the men appeared to be about six feet tall. He gave a description of their clothing, saying both men were wearing ski jackets. Roberts said the men were between 18 and 25 years old.

Six Injured in County Mishaps

Drivers Lose Control In One-Car Accidents On Rural Highways

Two girls who were hospitalized following an accident east of Kaukauna Sunday night were among six persons injured in five weekend accidents on Outagamie County roads.

Injured in the one-car accident on State 96, a half mile east of Kaukauna, were Barbara A. Diny, 18, Greenleaf, the driver, with a broken nose, bumps, bruises, and skinned knees, and her passenger, Judy H. Petersen, 17, route 2, De Pere, who suffered head lacerations, bumps, and bruises. Both girls were taken by ambulance to Kaukauna Community Hospital.

Outagamie County police said the Diny car was eastbound on 96 when it left the road and struck a utility pole. The driver told police she swerved to avoid an oncoming car that she thought was in her lane. The front of the 1962 auto was extensively damaged. The accident occurred about 7:45 p.m.

Robert L. Allen, 18, route 4, Appleton, complained of a back injury after his 1958 auto went out of control and rolled over about 3:45 p.m. Saturday at Apple Creek Road and Outagamie County Trunk JJ, three miles north of Appleton

County police said that Allen was attempting to turn left off JJ when his car went out of control and went into a ditch, crossed the road, and tipped onto its top. A mailbox and a highway sign were damaged.

Riverside Gives Gift to Americanos

The Riverside Paper Foundation, Inc., has given the Americanos Drum and Bugle Corps a $100 shot in the arm.

It was announced recently the Americanos Parents Trust Fund was ailing for money with which to purchase a much needed new equipment truck.

"Although this contribution appears in our 1968 budget, we held up payment because we were not certain if the Americanos qualified for a contribution under the rules of the Riverside Paper Foundation, Inc.," Timothy C. Catlin, president, said.

Catlin added in his letter to Americanos officials that the question "had been adequately answered by the excellent article about your organization in The Post-Crescent April 2.

Catlin said he hoped other local enterprises would follow suit and lend a helping hand to the Americanos.

Core Problems Talk Reset at Neenah Church

NEENAH — A lecture on inner core problems by the Rev. Patrick Flood, executive director of the Council on Urban Life, Milwaukee, scheduled 7:30 p.m. today at St. Gabriel Catholic Church, has been postponed until April 29.

Father Flood's lecture, which was to be the last in a series of adult enrichment course lectures, was postponed because of the death of the Rev. Martin Luther King.

The Catholic priest, pastor of St. Boniface Church, in the core area of Milwaukee, was to speak on "Inner Core Problems Do Involve You."

The second topic on marriage enrichment, which has run simultaneously throughout the series, will continue tonight at the St. Gabriel School. It is conducted by the Rev. Richard Wochenske, director of the Neenah-Menasha Apostolate.

"Sex Education in the Home," and "Raising Emotionally Healthy Children," will conclude that session.

Kemps Will Serve on New Safety Unit

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps has been appointed to one of several new technical committees of Gov. Warren P. Knowles' Highway Safety Advisory Committee.

Kemps is the only coroner serving on the committee on "alcohol in relation to highway safety." Other members of the committee include a representative of the liquor industry and officials of the State Motor Vehicle Department.

The first meeting of the newly-formed committee is April 23 at Madison.

The committee will work on a proposed federal highway safety program aimed at reducing traffic accidents arising in whole or in part from persons driving under the influence of intoxicants.

The proposed federal program provides, among other things, that there be an implied consent law in Wisconsin, and that there be quantitative tests for alcohol content on not only the bodies of all drivers and pedestrians involved in fatal accidents, but also on the surviving drivers in accidents fatal to others.

Rain, Hail Ride On Howling Wind

Gusts Up to 51 m.p.h. Recorded as Storm Hits Fox Valley Sunday

A driving rainstorm carried on winds gusting upwards to 51 miles an hour forced many motorists in the Fox Valley to pull off the road as the storm Sunday coincided with the weather pattern throughout the state.

Showers and thunderstorms developed in all but the extreme southeastern portion of the state Sunday night.

The rains began to fall in Appleton late Sunday afternoon and continued with varying intensity throughout the night and early today.

Hail accompanied the rain intermittently, but no damage reports were made to Appleton police. Green Bay and La Crosse also reported hail.

Southwest Wind

Winds were blowing from the southwest and reached their peak — 51 miles per hour — at 6:58 p.m. and again at 10:28 p.m.

Winds of 60 to 70 miles an hour were reported in a thunderstorm near Ripon, but elsewhere winds were 20 to 30 miles an hour with gusts to 40.

Appleton rainfall totaled .62 of an inch, the same as recorded in Green Bay, tops in the state during the 24-hour period ending at daybreak today. Park Falls reported .41 of an inch and Superior .27.

The temperature climbed to 63 degrees in Appleton on Sunday and the low was 38.

During the night minimum temperatures ranged from 34 at Superior to 46 at Milwaukee.

Highest temperature Sunday was 69 at Madison, Beloit, Lone Rock, Burlington and on Milwaukee's West Side.

Light rain fell in western Wisconsin today and was expected to move into the eastern and southern area later in the day. The Superior region had light snow.

3 Injured Saturday In 2-Car Collision at Appleton Intersection

Three persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident about 8:45 p.m. Saturday at W. Wisconsin Ave. and N. Mason Street.

Police said the cars were driven by Louis W. Radandt, 55, 947 Byrd Ave., Neenah, and Anne A. Lauger, route 1, Appleton, both of whom were injured.

Also injured was Sue Smith, 11, 929 Ninth St., Menasha, a passenger in the Lauger car. She suffered a bump on the head. The exact nature of Mrs. Lauger's and Radandt's injuries were not specified in the police report.

Police said that both autos were westbound on Wisconsin. Radandt was stopped for the red light when his car was struck in the rear by the Lauger car.

First Methodist Reports Burglary

Appleton police are seeking a burglar who apparently suffered a severe cut while breaking into First Methodist Church, 325 E. Franklin St., Saturday night or early Sunday.

The burglary was reported to police about 10:15 a.m. Sunday.

Entry into the building was made by breaking a 10 by 20-inch pane of glass on the north side. Police said they found blood on the outside window sill and on drapes inside.

The burglars apparently got into only the youth lounge in the basement. Nothing appeared to be missing, police were told.

Board Meets Tonight

Schools Will Review Budget, 5-Year Plans

Appleton school district's updated five-year building program and projected budget for the next five years will be reviewed tonight by the board of education.

Charles Buchanan, president, will present the updated plans and projections, but the board is not expected to take any action at this time. The building program is part of a continuous plan which is updated every year.

Supt. of Schools William Spears has said the school faces significant problems in building and budgeting because of the unpredictable influx of private school students.

In other business, the board of education is expected to approve the final figures on Appleton High School-East. The board made the final inspection tour Saturday.

James Westphal, elementary coordinator, will present statistics on anticipated enrollments next fall and explain school boundaries and developing attendance centers. School administrators watch changing student population concentrations in the district to help determine enrollments in the individual schools.

New textbooks for high school foreign language and math classes will be recommended for approval. High school students must purchase the textbooks under the district's program.

Unlawful Restrictions

Old Deeds Bar Sales to Negroes

OSHKOSH — "It is further agreed by the parties hereto, that the said premises or any part thereof, shall not be sold or resold to Negroes," according to deed restriction on lots in Lakeview Park plat which includes the Menominee Drive area.

"No person of any race other than Caucasian shall own, use, lease, or occupy any building or lot on said premises excepting in the case of domestic servants employed by or residing with owners or tenants," is the protective agreement attached to the Eichstadt subdivision at the city's north end

Almost the same provision is attached to Palisades Plat in the Town of Menasha and to others in this area

They are fairly common, say those who have occasion to see Oshkosh deeds frequently. Yet, they are patently illegal.

A decision by the U S. Supreme Court outmoded such provisions completely finding them unconstitutional Abstracters, however, are required to record the history of the land and so the restrictions remain in the deeds

Whether or not these restrictions might be heeded in the sale of houses is largely untested, for few Negroes have sought to buy homes in Oshkosh But one Oshkosh realtor told the Oshkosh Human Rights Council last week that the provisions against selling against Negroes would have full effect in the sale of a property unless someone complained and brought the matter to court

In that event, the court would rule the restrictions illegal

Members of the Oshkosh Human Rights Council, readying a campaign for adoption of a local open housing ordinance, will use such examples of ancient discriminations to prove the need for specific open housing legislation at the municipal level

Lakeview was platted in 1928. The Eichstadt Plat carries a 1947 date, and Palisades Plat is dated 1946.

Attorney Gary Yakes, chairman of title research, Winnebago County Bar Association, said covenants of the kind restricting sale of land to certain races were fashionable in the 1930's and 1940's But he is unaware of any increase of non-Caucasian in this area during those years

Such restrictions, he concludes, were valuable for their snob appeal on the basis that the more restrictive the plat or deed, the more plush and exclusive the neighborhood would be.

To such restrictions passing through his hands today he appends a note saying that they have no effect. Yakes said he has seen none, however, in the plats of the 1960's.

Zealous Attorneys

George Yost of Yost Abstract Company said he finds most of the sales restrictions in the 1940-50 plats. "Probably put there by over-zealous attorneys," he said, "or maybe to restrict lakefront property when Winnebago began to attract summer people"

Fifty Years of Service in the Appleton council of the United Commercial Travelers of America was rewarded Saturday as Achilles Schloss, left, receives a memorial plaque from Harold Podzilini, right, past grand counselor, and Karel Richmond, senior counselor. Costs Soar, Aids Decline For Schools

Neenah, Menasha Both Falling Behind In Money From State

NEENAH-MENASHA — With no promise of reduced school costs in sight as school budgets have ballooned during the past three years in a 17 to 24 per cent range, the most recent figures show that state aids are lagging

The most recent tabulation of state aids to the Twin Cities districts is for the year 1966-67 Comparing these figures with the 1965-66 aid figures from the Department of Public Instruction, Madison, there is little indication that state aids will ever realisitically lift a substantial portion of the school cost burden from the local taxpayer unless legislation is changed

In the Menasha Joint School District, whose present budget is near $2 million, the increase in total flat aids has been 15 per cent, while school costs have hovered near a 20 per cent increase for the same period.

An increase of 7 per cent in enrollments and 17 per cent in the number of teachers has brought an increase of $25,400 in flat aids to the district during the comparative period.

The state helped fund the transportation program by an increased $1,500; the common school fund with an additional $500; and approximately $10,000 more for the physically and mentally handicapped children, a 21 per cent increase.

In the Neenah Joint School District, which had its highest budget in history of $4 8 million approved last December, flat aids increased 28 per cent from 1965-66 to 1966-61966-67. For the past four years, school budgets have spiraled in the district between 15 and 22 5 per cent.

Enrollments for the comparable period show an increase of 4.5 per cent in the state report and the teaching staff, 12 per cent

Regional Convention

Involvement in Racial Issues Plea to Jaycees

BEAVER DAM — Andre Le Tendre, Wisconsin Jaycees president, told about 140 persons attending the region V convention here Saturday that much of the racial trouble came because the white race has turned a deaf ear on what is transpiring in the core areas.

LeTendre said, "Let's take time to reflect on the events of the last 24 to 48 hours These are most tragic because a great leader was killed"

The state president who has been a promoter of civil liberty said, "I hope and pray everything that must be done will be done I hope as Jaycees we realize the in-depth problems of the racial situation"

We haven't heard or listened, LeTendre said of the white race He said, "If we become involved in the problem we could help eliminate it"

Open Housing

LeTendre has met with civil rights leaders as a representative of the Jaycees who have officially voiced support for stricter open housing laws He said, "When you understand the problems of the core areas it is easier to understand why there are riots Maybe we won't be able to turn a deaf ear to the loud explosions which are erupting in our cities"

"We must give the Negroes understanding and hope that they recognize the law in this crucial period, but how can we when we have ignored all laws of human understanding," Le Tendre said

Human Life

He called for more committed people to change the forces of the world. LeTendre said the greatest thing in the world is human life and the greatest work is in developing that life.

Don Grow, Beaver Dam, was elected National Director of region V State vice presidents elected from the region were Roger Pitt, New London; Larry Zemlo, Randolph, and Charles Lindgren, Marshfield.

Little Chute Man Sent to Jail on Conduct Charge

Donald Castellion, 18, 1413 E. Main St, Little Chute, who on Feb. 22 was committed to Central State Hospital for examination after he pleaded "temporary insanity," this morning was sentenced to 20 days in jail on a disorderly conduct charge.

The charge was brought after he caused a disturbance in the Outagamie County jail Feb. 21 He reportedly got into a scuffle with a jailer, whom he struck in the mouth.

Deadline Passes For Vote Recount

The legal deadline is passed for seeking a recount in connection with last Tuesday's election.

There had been some speculation the outcome of the mayor's race might trigger a recount.

Under state election law, notice of a recount must be filed within three days after the meeting of the board of election canvassers.

The board met during Wednesday's council meeting and certified the election results.

Outagamie Zoning May Be Changed

A complete revision of the Outagamie County zoning ordinance may be undertaken to bring the ordinance more in line with zoning needs.

The zoning committee agreed today that a complete study of the ordinance was needed rather than trying to make piecemeal corrections. The study would be jointly made by the committee, Frank Charlesworth Jr., director of public services, and representatives of the Northeastern Regional Planning Commission and Fox Valley Council of Governments.

However, a change in the ordinance requested by the Town of Grand Chute, will probably be recommended at the May county board meeting to ease the requirement for minimum lot size for multiple-family dwellings.

Existing Zoning

Presently, the ordinance required a minimum of 9,000 square feet of lot area per family regardless of the type of residential zoning district.

Town officials feel the restrictiveness of the ordinance is driving away considerable apartment building construction. A recommended change was submitted by the town to the zoning committee at a public hearing this morning but the committee indicated they felt there should still be some changes in the proposed amendment before a recommendation was made to the county board.

hold an informational hearing, and that Geenen, Rasmussen and Public Works Director Frank Keuler agreed with him

Geenen also contacted Holmer and pointed out special hearings had been held at Madison and here to give opponents of the water project an opportunity to testify.

Corps Hearing

"It would seem these moves for another hearing are meant for harassment purposes and we have heard those people out," Geenen said.

Geenen also told Holmer the Corps of Engineers may hold a hearing and Bubolz and others could then be heard again.

There appeared to be agreement between state and city officials that if there should be an informational hearing — it would be for the purpose of answering questions only

And the questions, according to Holmer and Geenen, would have to relate to the allegation that the Appleton water project would add to Lake Winnebago pollution.

City officials said they were "getting tired of the negative oratory and harassment" and intend to get the project underway as soon as possible.

Dick Witherby Hits Top Speed In Drag Event

Jerry Weith, of Des Plaines, Hurt At KK Inaugural

The nitro-fuel dragster division provided the day's top excitement, including one chilling incident, as an opening day crowd of 4,367 drag racing fans turned out at the KK Sports Arena Sunday afternoon for the season's first eliminator competition.

Rockford, Ill. driver Dick Witherby won the nitro competition in his "Cheetah" with a 7.87-second clocking for the quarter mile strip reaching a top speed of 197 miles per hour in the process.

Another of the nitro division entrants, Jerry Weith of Des Plaines, Ill., also revved up to over 190 miles per hour, only to have the parachute on the dragster fail at the end of his run. Weith's machine then crashed over the end of the runway into a ditch.

Weith was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital, where pre-

Crash in Germany Kills Jimmy Clark

Noted Driver Won '500' Race in 1965

HOCKENHEIM, Germany (AP) — The auto racing world paid tribute today to Jim Clark, who was killed in a crash Sunday.

The 32-year-old Scot, winner of the Indianapolis 500 in 1965 and twice world driving champion, met death in the rain at the Hockenheim Motodrom when his Lotus Ford Cosworth skidded on wet asphalt.

His car, speeding along at 174 miles per hour, tore through a fence and hit a tree after turning over several times. Doctors at the nearby Heidelberg Hospital, where he was pronounced dead, said he had been killed instantly from a broken neck and a compound fracture of the skull.

"It is a great shock," said Jo Bonnier, Swedish chairman of the Grand Prix Drivers Association. "Jim was the greatest driver in motor racing today. His death is a great loss to the sport."

Wins 25 Races

A bachelor, Clark won a record 25 Grand Prix races and was the world champion in 1963 and 1965. Three of his Grand Prix victories came in the U.S. Grand Prix at Watkins Glen N.Y., the last one in 1967. He set a record by winning seven Grand Prix races in a row in 1963.

"Jim Clark may well have been the greatest driver of all time," said Wilfred Andrews, chairman of the Royal Automobile Club in London.

"Clark was the best driver of the present times," said Juan Manual Fangio in Buenos Aires. Fangio is a five-time world driving champion.

"His death is a tragedy for auto racing," Fangio added. "I am well acquainted with the Hockenheim race track. It is a very fast circuit and at fast circuits drivers seldom escape death in case of an accident."

In Tokyo, a spokesman for the Japan Automobile Federation, declared, "we are extremely shocked and saddened to learn of Clark's death which is a terrible loss to world racing circles. The world has lost an idol."

"Clark was unquestionably the greatest racing driver in the world," said Andy Granatelli in Indianapolis. Granatelli is president of the company which sponsored Clark's Lotus cars in 1966 and 1967 and for whom Clark was to have driven in the Indy 500 this year.

Clark's parents in Scotland heard of the tragedy while visiting friends. His father James, 73, said, "Jim's mother never wanted him to take up a racing career and I was not very keen. But we had to accept it and we were proud of him."

"Now it has ended," the elder Clark added. "His mother has taken it very badly."

Wreckage Of Car Will Be Studied

MANNHEIM, Germany (AP) — West German authorities today released the body of former world driving champion Jim Clark after closing their investigation of the race accident in which he was killed Sunday.

Wilhelm Angelberger, chief

state attorney, said that the state had no further objection to the body's being returned to Clark's home in Scotland and it would be released for transporting from the country this afternoon.

Angelberger also said the official investigation of the accident at the Hockenheim ring showed no evidence that other persons were guilty in the death and no grounds for opening a case against a third party.

Angelberger said the question of whether the driver or a fault in the car had caused the accident was not within the state attorney's jurisdiction and had not been probed by his office.

Clark's fatal accident occurred during the season's first race for the European Formula

Dodgers and Phils Feud Over Delay Of Season Opener

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies were caught in a rundown between Walter O'Malley and Warren Giles today as the Los Angeles Dodgers considered opening the 1968 baseball season all by themselves.

Los Angeles owner O'Malley was to decide this morning whether or not to go ahead with Tuesday night's scheduled home opener against Philadelphia—a game the Phillies have refused to play.

The Dodgers were left holding the ball Sunday when the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago White Sox pushed back their Tuesday openers one day, joining seven other major league clubs which had postponed opening home games in deference to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Funeral services for the slain civil rights leader will be held Tuesday in Atlanta.

National League President Giles left it up to the Dodgers as the home club, to decide whether to go through with their game. O'Malley conferred with his general manager E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi, Sunday night, but a decision was put off until today.

John Quinn, the Phillies' general manager, said earlier his club would not take the field at Los Angeles Tuesday night, at the risk of a possible forfeit and fine—because of the King funeral that afternoon.

Set for Wednesday

The other opening games in each league, including the Presidential fixture at Washington, all were set for Wednesday.

President Johnson was expected to miss the Senator's debut against the Minnesota Twins—one of five afternoon openers in the American League. The White Sox entertain Cleveland, Boston's defending champions are at Detroit, the new Oakland Athletics at Baltimore and California at New York in other AL inaugurals.

The Chicago Cubs visit Cincinnati and the New York Mets are at San Francisco in National League afternoon games. Pittsburgh is at Houston and Atlanta at St. Louis under the lights.

While O'Malley and Bavasi pondered the possibility of opening the season without an opponent, LA Manager Walter Alston checked into an Inglewood, Calif., hospital Sunday for treatment of a kidney stone and the Dodgers whipped Cleveland 5-1 in the lone exhibition finale.

Quickness Keynotes U.S. Cage Picks

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — U.S. Olympic basketball Coach Henry Iba of Oklahoma State feels foreign competition will be plenty tough and mighty tall.

A 12-man U.S. team was named Sunday, banking more on quickness than on size.

The Olympic trials ended Saturday night with the NAIA All-Stars whipping a cold-shooting AAU team 64-59 in the title game. More than 80 players were considered in the three-day tournament in Albuquerque.

A 45-man committee picked this team:

NAIA—Glynn Saulters, 6-foot-2, 175 pounds, Northeast Louisiana; Don Dee, 6-7, 205, St. Mary of the Plains, Kan.

AAU—Calvin Fowler, 6-1, 170, Akron, Ohio, Goodyear; James King, 6-7, Goodyear.

Junior College All-Stars—Spencer Haywood, 6-8, 230, Trinidad, Colo., Junior College.

Pick Barrett

Armed Forces—Mike Barrett, 6-2, 155, U.S. Navy and former West Virginia Tech collegian; John R. Clawson, 6-4, 200, U.S. Army and Michigan; Mike Silliman, 6-6, 225, U.S. Army and U S Military Academy.

NCAA—Ken Spain, 6-9, 225, Houston; Jo Jo White, 6-3, 194, Kansas; Bill Hosket, 6-7, 228, Ohio State, Charlie Scott, 6-4, 180, North Carolina.

Alternates—Dan Issel, Kentucky, Tom Black, Goodyear, George Carter, U.S. Army; Charles Paulk, Northeastern Oklahoma; Rick Mount, Purdue; and Joe Hamilton, Southwest Christian, Tex.

Iba said the 12 first-team selections will gather at Alamosa, Colo., in early September for four weeks of high-altitude training before exhibition games against professional teams in New York's Madison Square Garden, Cincinnati and possibly Albuquerque.

Masters Week To Start Later Than Usual

Many Competitors Are Completing Greensboro Test

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP — The Augusta National golf course opens today for Masters Tournament Week but few golfers are expected to be on hand.

The traditional opening of the course for the Masters was delayed one day because of the nationwide memorial services for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Many golfers who will play in the Masters, which begins Thursday, are competing in the Greater Greensboro Open Tournament in Greensboro, N.C. The final 36 holes of the tournament were postponed until today by a rainout and services for Dr. King.

Jack Nicklaus, picked as the man to beat in the Masters, isn't expected until Tuesday. Nicklaus, winner in 1963, 1965 and 1966, failed to make the cut last year and has been working hard on his game to try to wipe out the memory of this embarrassment.

Gay Brewer will defend the title he won in a last round duel with Bobby Nichols, and the ever-dangerous Arnold Palmer, only four-time winner, is ranked high among the challengers.

Others expected to be among the leaders are Gary Player, 1961 champion; the ever-hopeful Billy Casper, whose game appears strong after a trip to Vietnam to entertain troops, and Doug Sanders, who is aiming for the big ones this year.

The 79-man field includes 53 American pros, 17 foreign pros, 7 American amateurs and 2 foreign amateurs.

Portions of the last two rounds will be televised nationally by CBS.

Flag Race Will be Tougher in '68, Says Cards' Schoendienst

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "It's going to be tougher."

That's the estimate of Manager Red Schoendienst who led the St. Louis Cardinals to an impressive National League baseball pennant victory in 1967.

"I don't look for a 10½-game winning margin," Schoendienst continued. "We're the champs so you have to say we're the team to beat."

The Cardinals had been scheduled to open Tuesday night against the Atlanta Braves, but in deference to the memory of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, the game will be played Wednesday night.

King, who was slain by a sniper last Thursday in Memphis, Tenn., will be buried Tuesday in Atlanta.

Schoendienst has pronounced his team in relatively good physical condition. The team ended its exhibition season with a 17-11 record, losing three of the last four games.

Bob Gibson, has been named starting pitcher for the Cardinals while Pat Jarvis will go for the Braves The same two teams meet again Thursday night in St. Louis.

Snowmobile Unit Proposes Rules Changes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Members of the United States Snowmobile Association have drawn up some proposed racing rules changes designed to regulate the new sport's runaway competition horsepower.

Delegates at an association weekend meeting voted to present the changes in racing rules to a national gathering next month in Chicago.

Drivers proposed that stock classes be limited to vehicles with a maximum of about 30 horsepower, and that modified vehicles have a limit of about 50 horsepower.

Snowmobiles have appeared in competition with up to 80 horsepower, and persons at the meeting suggested these power plants be restricted to open classes or special drag races.

Other proposed rules changes involved filing of protests, emergency care during races, race officials' duties, lengths of marathon courses, and definitions of various types of engines.

Ted Felfrey of Munising, Mich., was named president of the association's Central Division, and Russ Kamholz of Wausau was chosen first vice president succeeding Dan Satran of Eigle River.

Wes Picks Baltimore

Colonels Withdraw Big Offer to Unseld

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association have called off their campaign to sign two-time All-American We stley Unseld and have withdrawn their $500,000 contract offer.

The Colonels had been competing for Unseld's services with the National Basketball Association's Baltimore Bullets.

The signing campaign staged by Kentucky had reached the point where a half-million dollar four-year contract offer was made to the University of Louisville star—and full-page newspaper ads had been taken out urging him to sign.

But it all came to an end Saturday night.

Unseld replied that he would rather play for Baltimore.

At that point, the year-old Kentucky organization gave in and issued a statement withdrawing the contract offer.

Accept World Cups

Killy, Miss Greene End Ski Racing Competition In Moments of Glory

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP)—A Frenchman, a Canadian, two Austrians and an American shared the international spotlight this weekend as the World Cup Ski racing competition came to a glittering end at Heavenly Valley.

The star of Sunday's cliff-hanging men's two-run slalom was a 23-year-old University of Colorado senior, Vladimir "Spider" Sabich, of Kyburz, Calif., who won the event in 105.93 seconds to best the world's greatest skiers.

It was a weekend of cups, points and honors

Olympic slalom silver medalist Herbert Huber of Austria took the men's giant slalom to win the Governor's Cup. His teammate, Gertrud Gabl, won the women's giant slalom to take the Governor's Cup for women.

The weekend marked the last race and retirement of Frenchman Jean-Claude Killy, Olympic triple gold medalist, and Canada's Olympic gold and silver medalist Nancy Greene.

Prizes Accepted

They celebrated the event by accepting World Cups for the second consecutive year for overall season - long performance in slalom, giant slalom and downhill.

There was some sadness as well. Austria's Olga Pall, Olympic downhill gold medalist, and her sister, Elizabeth, were walking down a dark road last Thursday night, on the event of the meet, when they were accidentally hit from behind by a car. Each suffered a broken left leg.

They spent the race days in Barton Memorial Hospital, depressed and unhappy. But their teammates visited them as often as possible.

For a top ski racer, it is unthinkable that a limb should be broken anywhere but on the slopes.

Hearty Crowd

Sunday's men's slalom was a pressure race witnessed by thousands of fans who had climbed a quarter of a mile up 20 degree dirt slope to watch the finish.

So great was the tension that assorted disqualifications, missed gates and falls eliminated about 50 men before the finish. Only 20 men completed the event.

Second to Sabich, who has broken his legs seven times, was Huber with 106.32 and third Rick Chaffee. Rutland, Vt., in 106.77. Killy, weary after months of battle on the snow, placed seventh with 107.68.

But Killy had the cup wrapped up even before the Heavenly Valley meet. When the slalom was over the crowd swarmed into so-called restricted areas.

Killy walked into their midst and sat down on the ground. Instantly he was ringed by admiring fans demanding his autograph or just touching the handsome European.

For about 20 minutes he gave interviews in English and French and accepted the affection of the four-deep crowd.

Impressed

A foreign newsman said, "This is better than in Europe." While all this was happening, Ondre Bachleda of Poland, a promising skier, learned that his fall in the second run of the men's slalom cost him a broken left ankle.

The weekend proved what rumors had been saying for months that U.S. head ski coach Bob Beattie would soon be out of that job. Beattie confirmed it, said he had gone to the U.S. Ski Association and told them he was quitting the head coach job and wanted another position of leadership, perhaps as alpine director.

Friends of French Coach Honore Bonnet reported that the great alpine mentor was at last quitting to become director of the new Praloup Ski area in the southern French mountains.

Clark Auto Wreckage to Be Studied

Two Drivers Cup at the nearby Hockenheim race course.

Skids Off Track

His Lotus Ford Cosworth skidded off the wet track on a gradual right curve, crashed through a guard fence, somersaulted and hit a tree.

The body was taken to the Heidelberg University Surgical Clinic where he was pronounced dead. Doctors said he apparently died at the scene of the crash of a double skull fracture and a broken neck.

The Automobile Club of Germany, which sponsored the race, reported that Colin Chapman, British designer of racing cars and long-time friend of Clark, planned to fly Clark's body home in his private plane.

Chapman flew to West Germany Sunday night after receiving news of the accident.

The British Consulate in Stuttgart also reported that Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, were expected to come to Germany to accompany the body home. A Consulate spokesman said no definite plans for transporting of the body would be made until they had arrived.

Officials of the Hockenheim ring reported that the wreckage of Clark's car would be taken to England for a thorough study of possible causes of the accident.

Race experts here have stated that a fault of some kind in the car might have caused the accident. Clark was driving at about 168 miles per hour nd careened off the track on a very slight curve.

Richard von Frankenberg, former race driver and well-known West German auto writer, said Clark's car turned off the track so suddenly as to indicate a fault in the steering or suspension system.

- $2.00 per hour minimum day rate—plus excellent incentive pay rates and overtime
- No seasonal lay-offs—and never a day of work lost due to strikes, lock-outs or walk-outs since we started in business
- Up to 80 cents per hour additional to basic pay in company-paid fringe benefits such as group and disability coverage for you and your family—profit-sharing pension plan—paid vacations and holidays, etc.
- Job-training for better jobs at higher pay and promotion from within
- Above average growth in foundry and farm implement sales
- Live in a clean, progressive city where over 50% of the homes are less than 15 years old

1967 ELECTRONIC COMPUTER PROGRAMMING INSTITUTE, INC.

Most of the people we've trained as computer programmers never thought they had the brains for the job.

Their impression of computers was the generally accepted one: That you need a Ph.D. to run them. Actually all you need is a high school education and some professional training.
ECPI training.
It's not easy, mind you. And it's not cheap. But when you've earned your ECPI diploma you'll be in a position to command a highly respectable salary with even a higher potential. And you'll be in a field where the job comes looking for you.
(This year, some 25,000 programmer jobs will remain unfilled for lack of trained personnel.)
That puts the supply and demand theory strictly in your favor.
Right now, if you are between 17 and 40, the smartest thing you can do is to send for our free computer programmer sample aptitude test.
Maybe you've never thought you had the brains for the job. The test may prove otherwise.
* Approved by Wis. Education Approval Council and for GI Bill
* Own on premises IBM 360 computer Center
* One of 85 ECPI schools coast to coast

Bobby Unser Wins Phoenix 150-Mile Race

Brother Burned In Flaming Pileup Involving 4 Cars

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., sped through a flaming pileup to capture the Jimmy Bryan 150-mile U.S. Auto Club race at Phoenix International Raceway.

Unser, driving a turbo-charged, rear-engine Offenhauser, averaged just over 100 miles per hour to win the Sunday race, after setting a one-la-qualifying record of 124.059 m.p.h. It was Unser's second victory in a row.

Unser took the lead from Roger McCluskey of Tucson, whose car was one of four put out of action in a flaming crash on the 46th lap in which Johnny Rutherford, Fort Worth, Tex., was burned.

Engine Blew Up

The accident was touched off when Al Unser, the winner's brother, had the engine of his car blow up, throwing oil across the track. Bobby Unser narrowly avoided the resulting pileup.

McCluskey, Rutherford and Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., skidded on the slippery surface and crashed into the upper wall, with the Rutherford and Andretti machines bursting into flames.

Rutherford, who suffered burned feet and a burned right hand, was saved from further injury by A. J. Foyt, defending USAC champ who rushed to Rutherford's burning car and pulled him from the cockpit.

Rutherford's injuries were not believed serious.

Richert Called To Duty With The Guard

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pitcher Pete Richert of the Baltimore Orioles has been called to duty with a National Guard unit federalized to help control violence in Washington, D.C.

The hurler left the Orioles Saturday in Atlanta and joined his unit in Washington. ,

"Pete is reporting for duty, and nobody knows for how long," Manager Hank Bauer said.

Moving back to the bullpen after several years as a starter, Richert was the busiest of the Baltimore relievers in spring training. The left-hander allowed eight hits and two runs in 20 innings and struck out 13.

The Orioles returned home after their final exhibition game, scheduled in Atlanta Sunday, was cancelled.

Dodgers, Phils Feuding Over Game Delay

were canceled in line with the designation of Sunday as a day of mourning for Dr. King.

A Dodgers team physician said Alston, beginning his 15th season as dean of major league managers, has a stone in the right kidney. "As soon as it passes we'll let him go," said Dr. Robert Woods. He said doctors might use a tube to remove the stone if it had not passed today.

Wes Parker slammed two home runs and Don Drysdale pitched six strong innings as the Dodgers completed their exhibition schedule with a 14-13 mark.

The world champion Cardinals, favored to repeat as National League pennant winners, disclosed that 1967 rookie ace Dick Hughes will miss his first pitching turn because of a tender arm. Manager Red Schoendienst said Hughes, a 16-game winner last year, probably will be used in relief until his arm comes around.

The Phillies-Dodgers hassle began last Saturday night when Quinn announced: "We've decided that we're not going to play Tuesday, along with other National League clubs."

Bavasi, told of Quinn's statement, said: "It's unfortunate that a premature announcement has been made because as far as the Dodgers are concerned the game is still on."

The Dodgers general manager said he had decided to go through with the game after talking with two Negroes on the club, center fielder Willie Davis and Coach Jim Gilliam. "They said they felt that as long as the game would not be played before Dr. King's interment there was no sense in cancelling it," Bavasi said.

Sunday, Quinn admitted that the Dodgers had the final say on whether or not to stage the game. "Under the rules," he added, "the game can be forfeited and we could be fined. But we have made our final decision. We will not play."

In Cincinnati, Giles also confirmed that the Phils would be subject to forfeiture and a penalty if they didn't show for the game. He said he would have no further comment "unless Philadelphia does not present ts team for the start of the game."

Teens on Wheels

BY MICHAEL LAMM
For The Associated Press

DEAR MIKE:

In regard to high school students owning their own cars, I feel this way: if they own cars, pay for them plus gas, upkeep, insurance, etc., they have to get part-time jobs. So their studies are going to slip. But on the other hand, better they should pay for their cars than have wheels handed to them, because if you have to work for something, you value and guard it a lot more than if it's served up on a silver platter. It's the money angle that makes this whole business of kids' owning cars so tough. And that's why a parent has to know his teen-age child well enough to predict whether a car is going to clobber his high school grades. — CONCERNED PARENT

DEAR MIKE:

I own a 1957 MGA roadster. The seat upholstery and door panels are shot. An upholstery shop quoted me an estimate of $165, but that's exactly a third of what I paid for the whole car. The reason I bought it in the first place was to keep down expenses. Can you suggest a cheaper way to make the inside presentable? — SPORT

DEAR SPORT:

If the springs aren't hanging out, you can probably make terrycloth seat covers yourself. As for the doors and kickpanels, several companies offer replacement kits. You might begin by writing Amco, 7425 Fulton Ave., North Hollywood, Calif., 91605, for their catalogue.

DEAR MIKE:

I'd like to know what ever happened to Chrysler's turbine car. A few years ago they advertised it as a revolutionary automobile. Now you don't hear about it anymore. What happened? —CHRYSLER FAN

DEAR FAN:

I'm sure you mean the 50 turbine cars that Chrysler built in the early 1960s. These were strictly experimental. Chrysler lent them for three-month periods to people in all walks of life — doctors, clergymen, grocers, businessmen, etc. — to drive and then report. Some 200 people got to borrow these cars, and most reported very favorably. As it happens, I got to drive one, and I really enjoyed it. Chrysler later recalled their turbine cars, and so far as I know, they destroyed all but eight. There was never any intention of selling these turbines, and after Chrysler had gathered its data, the project ended. But as I understand it, there's another crop of Chrysler turbines now in the works; also with no intention of immediate sale.

DEAR MIKE:

I'll be going away to college in about a year, and I'd like to buy a car then. I've been saving for quite some time, but even so, I'm sure I won't have my parents' blessing when I start talking about buying a car. What I'd like to know is: 1) Can I buy a car at age 18 without my parents' signature? 2) Can I register it in my name? 3) Will I run into trouble trying to get insurance? Hope you can help me. — INDEPENDENT

DEAR INDEPENDENT:

In most states, you have to be 21 to get a car registered in your name (18 if you're a married woman). You can buy (pay for) a car no matter how old you are, of course, but you have to register it in a parent's or guardian's name until you're 21. As for insurance, you'll be assigned to a high-risk pool, which means you'll pay from $100 to $400 more per year than your parents do, depending on where you live and what your driving record looks like. I wish I could be more encouraging.

Many Flee London Wreck

50 Feared Dead in Jet Crash

LONDON (AP) — A British jetliner bound for Australia and New Zealand crashed in flames at London Airport today. Reports from rescue workers said up to 70 and perhaps more of its 131 passengers plus crew escaped.

The plane was a Boeing 707 operated by British Overseas Airways Corp. It crashed on the airport's No. 5 runway minutes after taking off for Zurich, the first of several stops.

Witnesses at the rescue operation said perhaps 50 bodies were pulled from the blazing wreck. Scores of passengers ran or jumped from the plane within seconds of the crash landing.

BOAC said two hours after the wreck: "We know of no fatalities."

But its spokesman later said that not all aboard had been accounted for. It could check as definitely alive only 43 passengers and five crew members.

A short time later, however, BOAC said it knew of 103 survivors.

Airport officials said the plane's pilot, Capt. Charles Taylor, radioed two minutes after takeoff that an engine had fallen off.

The plane made a left turn, attempting to reach a cross runway. On impact the port wing fell off.

Black smoke poured from the plane as it lurched in. Airport emergency services rushed out alongside it.

A witness said: "There was a terrific pall of black smoke and flames coming from the aircraft. Two thirds of the plane appears to be intact with the tail end still sticking up.

"It lies almost in the center of the airport, 500 or 600 yards from the main buildings in the central area."

It crashed within sight of Queen's Building, the main passenger terminal building.

Fire trucks from the airport's emergency services rushed out to the wreck, spraying it with foam. Others were called in from London.

Death Count Rises to 25 In Violence

BY LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Violence, looting and arson scourged sections of Baltimore and Pittsburgh Sunday, but Army troops and National Guardsmen, rushed in to quell the disorders, enforced an uneasy calm today.

Washington and Chicago, hardest hit by the violence which broke out in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Thursday night, were quiet. Authorities turned to the task of trying to provide homes and food for the victims of the riots.

Twenty-five have died in the trouble which struck more than a dozen U.S. cities. In addition, more than 1,200 have been injured and almost 6,000 arrested.

Building Burns

While the violence in most of the major cities ebbed, trouble struck again in Nashville, Tenn. Only hours after segments of the 4,000 National Guardsmen were on duty, the ROTC building on the campus of Tennessee A&I State University, site of recent racial violence, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Police said it appeared to be the work of arsonists.

Violence in Baltimore broke out Saturday and threatened to spread Sunday into Baltimore County, causing Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew to call for federal troops.

Almost 2,000 soldiers rushed

President Orders Addition To North 'Off-Limits' Zone

SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson has put almost 5,500 more square miles of North Vietnam off limits to American bombers, U.S. sources said today. Below the demilitarized zone, allied ground forces reported killing more than 700 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in weekend fighting.

Informed sources in Saigon said the American air forces have been told to keep their raids below the 19th Parallel, which is about 170 miles above the demilitarized zone. In the last four days U.S. bombers have struck no farther north than 160 miles above the DMZ.

Publicly, Johnson's order of March 31 setting the 20th Parallel as the northern boundary for air attacks still stands, and the sources said the President did not publicize the new curtailment because he wanted to leave open the option of bombing up to the 20th Parallel, or some 225 miles above the DMZ.

The U.S. Command in Saigon declined comment on the reported new bombing limits. In Washington, assistant White House press secretary Tom Johnson said there is no change from the March 31 order.

Although the area open to attack has been reduced, U.S. warplanes have more than doubled the pre-curtailment number of strike missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, mostly against enemy supply lines and convoys.

U.S. pilots flew a total of 134 missions over the North Vietnamese panhandle Sunday, the highest number in three months, since 144 were flown on Jan. 6. Military spokesmen said clearer weather, as the northeast monsoons move away, made the increase possible.

The fliers attacked North Vietnamese supply lines and gun positions, with the northernmost target an antiaircraft position 160 miles north of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command said.

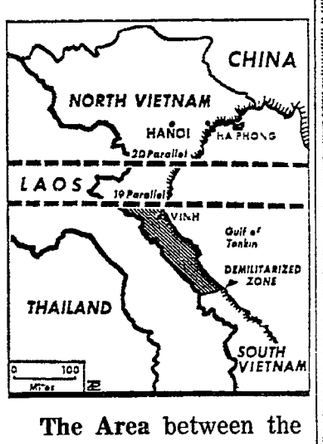
In the ground war, the U.S. troops that lifted the siege of Khe Sanh reported killing 118 North Vietnamese soldiers in a series of clashes over the weekend as they combed the jungled hills around the base on the northwest frontier.

The troops also reported finding the bodies of 198 enemy soldiers who apparently were killed by U.S. artillery and air strikes.

Attack Near Laos

Five hours before the guard was changed at Khe Sanh, North Vietnamese troops under cover of darkness attacked a bivouac of South Vietnamese paratroopers southwest of Khe Sanh and a mile and a half from the Laotian border.

The South Vietnamese opened fire and directed their artillery onto the enemy troops on the perimeter of their own defensive positions. Within 20 minutes, the North Vietnamese broke contact, leaving 71 of their dead behind along with 11 South Vietnamese killed and 28 wounded.



The Area between the dotted lines has been added to that part of North Vietnam off limits to U.S. warplanes. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Lindbergh Law's Death Provision Ruled Invalid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death penalty provision of the Lindbergh kidnaping law was ruled unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court.

In a 6-2 decision, the court said the provision, enacted by Congress in 1934, needlessly chills the exercise of basic constitutional rights.

The provision says the death penalty may be imposed only on the recommendation of a jury. The high court reasoned that this discourages trial by jury and encourages guilty pleas since the case is thereby taken out of a jury's hands.

"The defendant ingenuous enough to seek a jury acquittal stands forwarned that, if the jury finds him guilty and does not wish to spare his life, he will die," said Justice Potter Stewart.

Stewart, for the majority, recognized that the provision avoids "the more drastic alternative" of mandatory capital punishment in every interstate kidnaping case where the victim is harmed.

However, he added: "Whatever might be said of Congress' objectives, they cannot be pursued by means that needlessly chill the exercise of basic constitutional rights."

'Can be Achieved'

Stewart went on to say the goal, of limiting the death penalty to cases in which the jury recommends it, is an entirely legitimate one.

"But that goal can be achieved without penalizing those defendants who plead not guilty and demand jury trial," he said.

Mrs. King to be Present

Thousands Assemble For Memphis March

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Thousands of mourning Negroes and civil rights leaders assembled outside a gray stone church today for a silent march in honor of the man who would have led them, the slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

King's widow, Coretta, and the three oldest King children left Atlanta aboard the jet plane of singer Harry Belefonte to join the march.

"I've got my three children with me — and that helps," she said.

An hour before the march was to start, hundreds of helmeted National Guardsmen, bayonets attached to rifles, stood on the wide plaza of the modern city hall, overlooking the Mississippi River, and throughout an area stretching three blocks in every direction from that point.

A National Guard helicopter circled constantly over the building complex through which the march route passed.

No Weapons

Despite threatening skies, parade marshals refused to allow marchers to carry anything that could be used as a weapon — including umbrellas.

The marchers were lined up curb to curb for two blocks down Pontotoc Street and at least four blocks down Hernando.

Today's march had been planned by King as a demonstration in support of a strike by Memphis garbagemen, most of them Negroes. After he was slain Thursday, it became a memorial march for King as well.

At the starting point, the church from which King led a March 28 demonstration that exploded into a flurry of window breakings and lootings, large signs were handed marchers reading, "Honor King — end racism."

Circulars were distributed urging all participants to stop buying the two daily newspapers. The circulars read, "Stop being a traitor to the Negroes' fight for freedom."

Four U. S. marshals showed up at the starting point. Others apparently were spread along the march route. About two dozen persons were sitting across the street from City Hall, where they said they would wait for the march.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, the man who inherited the leadership of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference from King, and other SCLC officials were held up in Atlanta for a time by fog but eventually left to take part in the march.

Mrs. King said she had definitely decided only an hour or two earlier that she would make the trip here. She planned to return to Atlanta in the late afternoon.

21 Others Missing

42 Bodies Taken From Blast Scene

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Weary searchers continue today tugging at the wreckage of buildings shattered by an explosion which struck the business area as shoppers crowded streets and shops.

Forty-two bodies had been recovered and 21 other persons were reported missing.

Fire followed the Saturday explosion in this eastern Indiana city and spread to adjacent buildings. Three buildings were destroyed and five damaged severely in a two-block area. Windows were shattered for blocks around.

More than 100 persons were injured. Eighteen remained in hospitals today, three in critical condition.

State police said the blast erupted in the basement of Marting Arms Co., a sporting goods store where gunpowder was stored for hunters and skeet shooters. Richmond Fire Marshal Fred Klotz said a large shipment of gunpowder reportedly was delivered to the store recently.

FBI agents said they were investigating the possibility of a gas leak as a factor in the explosion.

Only a crater remained where the sporting goods store stood at Sixth and Main Streets. Neighboring buildings were torn apart. Flames damaged other buildings.

Some of the dead and injured were trapped in cars demolished by the blast and falling debris. One car was hurled 50 feet. Officials said more than 150 vehicles were demolished.

Downtown March Set Today

12,000 Gather in Milwaukee for King Services

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Memorial ceremonies in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. attracted an estimated 12,000 persons at two Milwaukee parks Sunday

One of the affairs was marked by tears and choral singing. The other, at the edge of the city's Inner Core, included chants of "Black Power" and a call for a large turnout for a demonstration march today.

Estimates of the crowd size at Washington Park on the city's West Side ranged to 8,400. A gathering at Garfield Park about three miles away on the North Side attracted an estimated 4,000 persons. About half the crowd at Washington Park was white.

The Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had said Saturday it would boycott the Washington Park services, which were being arranged with the help of Mayor Henry Maier.

Address by Groppi

The Rev. James E. Groppi, Youth Council adviser whose audience at Garfield Park was about 25 per cent white, discussed the violence which erupted in other cities after the slaying in Memphis of Dr. King.

"I am not one to say that they do not deserve to burn," Father Groppi said.

Referring to the council's plans for marching today down Wisconsin Avenue, a main business district thoroughfare along which he has led several open housing marches since last August, Father Groppi said:

"We are not going to march on sidewalks. We've had enough of that. We are going to take over Wisconsin Avenue."

The talk by the white Roman Catholic priest was accompanied by shouts of "Black Power."

A young man, identifying himself as a University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee student, shouted to the crowd? "You're a damn fool if you keep on marching."

"Now it's those honkies that shot Martin Luther King who are saying they're sorry," he said. "They talk about nonviolence, and that's garbage."

Many persons wept during the 70-minute ceremony at Washington Park. The persons gathered there rose to their feet as a choir, comprising members of eight inner city churches, sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Washington Park observances were addressed by Maier, whose position on open housing has been criticized by the youth council — the council demanding an ordinance stronger than one adopted by the city.

"All humanity is poorer today because of the loss of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.," Maier said. "But it is richer for what he has done."

"He lived and died for what he preached," the mayor said.

Maier said he was involved in the Washington Park observance "as a member of that race to which we all belong. I come here as a member of the human race."

Janitor Attacked, Bound

Armed Robbers Hit 41 Bowl

Outagamie County authorities continued to search today for a small, late model car and two tall men who are suspects in an apparent armed robbery early Sunday morning at 41 Bowl, 3916 W. College Ave.

The men fled with an undetermined amount of change and merchandise from vending machines.

They left behind a janitor who told police he was struck on the head and back, and tied with electrical cord.

The janitor, Charles Roberts, 21, 111 Main St., Kimberly, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by ambulance, but was released a short time later. He reportedly has a small cut on his arm and a small bump on the head.

Roberts telephoned the sheriff's department at 7:40 a.m. Sunday and stated, "I'm the janitor at 41 Bowl. I'm tied up behind the counter."

Discover Janitor

Several traffic patrolmen and investigators were summoned. The first patrolman at the scene said he found Roberts in a south entryway, his hands tied behind him and his ankles tied together with wire from a wall-mounted juke box selector.

Police immediately searched the entire building. Roberts told them he came to work about 5:50 a.m., and was in the west end of the building when he heard a noise "like the building was cracking."

He went to investigate and found two men who had just entered through an east door, leading into the bowling alleys. Both men wore face masks — one a stocking and the other a pull-over ski mask — and one carried what appeared to be a 45 caliber pistol, Roberts told police.

Hit on Head

The men ordered him into a women's restroom in the bowling alley portion of the building. Roberts said he was struck on the back, while his back was turned, and, while he was on his hands and knees, he was hit on the head.

Roberts said he was not sure what object was used to strike him, but when he came to, he found a broken champagne bottle on the restroom floor. He said he awoke to find himself tied up.

Roberts told investigators he managed to crawl out of the restroom to the main desk, some 80 feet away. With his hands and feet still bound, he pulled the telephone from the counter and called the sheriff's department.

Machines Damaged

Investigators said that six pinball machines, several cigarette, candy, and cold drink vending machines, and juke boxes were pried open and the change taken. The amount of money taken will be determined after an inventory is made. There was considerable damage to the vending machines, investigators said.

A man working in the area of 41 Bowl told police that he saw two men "trotting" east from the building, across a small field, to a car parked behind a service station near 41 Bowl.

Police were told that the men drove away in a black and green Mustang. They drove onto W. College Avenue, then onto U.S. 41.

Roberts told police that the men appeared to be about six feet tall. He gave a description of their clothing, saying both men were wearing ski jackets. Roberts said the men were between 18 and 25 years old.

Outagamie Zoning May Be Changed

A complete revision of the Outagamie County zoning ordinance may be undertaken to bring the ordinance more in line with zoning needs.

The zoning committee agreed today that a complete study of the ordinance was needed rather than trying to make piecemeal corrections. The study would be jointly made by the committee, Frank Charlesworth Jr., director of public services, and representatives of the Northeastern Regional Planning Commission and Fox Valley Council of Governments.

However, a change in the ordinance requested by the Town of Grand Chute, will probably be recommended at the May county board meeting to ease the requirement for minimum lot size for multiple-family dwellings.

Existing Zoning

Presently, the ordinance required a minimum of 9,000 square feet of lot area per family regardless of the type of residential zoning district.

Town officials feel the restrictiveness of the ordinance is driving away considerable apartment building construction. A recommended change was submitted by the town to the zoning committee at a public hearing this morning but the committee indicated they felt there should still be some changes in the proposed amendment before a recommendation was made to the county board.

Six Injured in County Mishaps

Drivers Lose Control In One-Car Accidents On Rural Highways

Two girls who were hospitalized following an accident east of Kaukauna Sunday night were among six persons injured in five weekend accidents on Outagamie County roads.

Injured in the one-car accident on State 96, a half mile east of Kaukauna, were Barbara A. Diny, 18, Greenleaf, the driver, with a broken nose, bumps, bruises, and skinned knees, and her passenger, Judy H. Petersen, 17, route 2, De Pere, who suffered head lacerations, bumps, and bruises. Both girls were taken by ambulance to Kaukauna Community Hospital.

Outagamie County police said the Diny car was eastbound on 96 when it left the road and struck a utility pole. The driver told police she swerved to avoid an oncoming car that she thought was in her lane. The front of the 1962 auto was extensively damaged. The accident occurred about 7:45 p.m.

Robert L. Allen, 18, route 4, Appleton, complained of a back injury after his 1958 auto went out of control and rolled over about 3:45 p.m. Saturday at Apple Creek Road and Outagamie County Trunk JJ, three miles north of Appleton.

Turning Left

County police said that Allen was attempting to turn left off JJ when his car went out of control and went into a ditch, crossed the road, and tipped onto its top. A mailbox and a highway sign were damaged.

Gerald Wittman, 18, 2301 N. Erb St., suffered a cut on his right hand when his car struck a culvert, about 6:15 p.m. Sunday on Outagamie County Trunk MM, just south of Stephensville.

Police said that Wittman was northbound on MM. He reportedly lost control of the car on a curve. The car turned onto its left side and struck a driveway culvert at the William Siewert home, route 1, Hortonville. Siewert's lawn also was damaged. Wittman's 1964 auto was extensively damaged.

Cut Forehead

Keith D. Carpenter, 21, route 1, Shiocton, suffered a cut forehead and knee abrasions when his car struck a railroad embankment on County Trunk G, four miles north of Black Creek, about 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Police said Carpenter was westbound on G, when his car went into the ditch and struck the embankment at the Soo Line Railroad Co. crossing. The entire front of his 1961 auto was damaged.

Robert Herning, 24, route 1, Seymour, suffered minor injuries when his car struck a culvert and went into a field on Blohm Road, two miles south of Seymour, about 1:20 a.m. Sunday.

Herning was westbound on Blohm Road. He was taken to St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, and was released a short time later. The front of his auto was damaged.
